Attacks Continue; Laird Reviews War

SAIGON (AP) — Defense Secretary Melvin Laird began his assessment of the Viet Cong offensive in an all-day round of conferences with U.S. officials in Vietnam.

Laird met all morning with Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, the top U.S. commander, at Abrams' headquarters. The conference continued after lunch.

The officials were said to have discussed what response the U.S. Command would make if the Viet Cong continued rocket and mortar attacks on Saigon and other major cities.

Laird warned on his arrival at midnight Thursday that "if these attacks continue unabated, an appropriate response will be made."

Pressed by newsmen as to what such a response might be and if it might include resumption of the bombing of North Vietnam, Laird said that was not the time or place to go into details.

The Viet Cong's spring offensive was in its 13th day today, and allied spokesmen reported 30 military bases shelled during the night and a mortar attack on a provincial capital in the Central Highlands. Saigon was spared. U.S. and South Vietnamese troops reported 217 of the enemy killed in ground and air operations Thursday.

As Laird conferred, Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky returned from the Paris peace talks and said he believes retaliation for the enemy rocket attacks on Saigon would be "appropriate." Asked if this included bombing North Vietnam, Ky replied, "Yes."

Targets of the enemy gunners Thursday night included the U.S. 9th Infantry Division headquarters at Dong Tam, 35 miles southwest of Saigon; the U. S. 1st Infantry Division headquarters 30 miles northwest of Sai-

Small Group Of Senators Fight Against A-Ban Pact

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nuclear nonproliferation treaty met sharp—but predictable—criticism today as it finally reached the Senate floor accompanied by a demand for immediate big-power disarmament talks.

Republican Barry Goldwater of Arizona, member of a small, bipartisan band of opponents, said in a prepared Senate speech that ratification of the treaty would assure "the role of the United States as the policeman of the world."

Goldwater said that a United Nations resolution adopted by the Security Council last year, plus U. S. statements in supporting that resolution would require the United States to help any nonnuclear country signing the treaty that is threatened with nuclear attack.

Despite the opposition, Chairman J. W. Fulbright of the Foreign Relations Committee said he expected two-thirds approval by the Senate within a few days.

The Foreign Relations Committee completed action on the pact Thursday by approving a report calling for an "immediate" start to big power nuclear disarmament talks.

Fulbright said the committee made no specific mention of the Sentinel antiballistic missile (ABM) system which got most of the attention during hearings on the treaty.

Opponents of the $5 billion, nuclear armed defensive system—including Fulbright—say its deployment would contradict Article VI of the nuclear treaty.

Fulbright said the committee interpreted the article to mean disarmament talks should start in the "immediate future" and that such talks would naturally bar deployment of the ABM.

Under the pact, nuclear countries promise they will not turn over nuclear weapons or the know-how for making them to non-nuclear countries. The latter promise not to try to acquire or develop such weapons.

U.S. Repsonse To Attacks 'Measured'

SAIGON (AP) — President Nixon's administration fully understands that it is being tested by the recent rocket attacks on Saigon, but it is determined that any response will be tailored to fit the situation in Vietnam and American public reaction.

This assessment of the possible Nixon response was learned today from an American source with knowledge of current developments in Vietnam.

The source indicated no decision had been reached although in the American view the enemy rocket attacks violated the understanding with Hanoi by which President Lyndon B. Johnson ended the bombing of North Vietnam, Nov. 1. Hanoi says the bombing halt was unconditional.

This was the picture drawn by the American source:

Any possible response would have to take into account the objectives to be sought, the psychological impact and the military and political considerations.

Among the options open to Nixon is some form of renewed bombing. The fact that this would have worldwide propaganda implications, however, is well known to American planners.

A factor in the study of reaction to the rocket attacks is a belief that the Nixon administration is enjoying a breathing spell with American public opinion. No one wishes to take hasty action that would unnecessarily dissipate that asset.

The Nixon administration's feeling seems to be that it has a certain amount of time before making vital decisions on Vietnam. This is traced to a belief that the American people realize that Nixon inherited serious problems elsewhere, notably in the Middle East, as well as in Vietnam. The administration reading seems to be that the people want a reduction in the level of violence and the U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

Major Storms Batter Both U.S. Coasts

Heavy Snowfall
Is Reported;
More Coming

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Major storms at opposite ends of the nation gained momentum today, dumping rain and snow on the southern Atlantic Seaboard and blanketing parts of the Rocky mountains with up to 7 inches of snow.

Moderate to heavy snowfalls in the higher levels of the Appalachians produced hazardous driving conditions. Travelers' warnings were posted from the eastern portion of Tennessee and Kentucky into southeastern New York and Connecticut.

Two to 4 inches of new snow fell from Asheville, N.C., to Charleston, W. Va., and 4 more inches were expected.

The Middle Atlantic states faced the threat of hazardous driving conditions as the storm moved along the East Coast.

Rain soaked most of Florida and ranged into the southern sections of the Appalachians, the Carolinas and the Virginias.

In the West another storm dumped 1 to 7 inches of snow on scattered areas of the central and southern Rockies and parts of the Southwest. Lander, Wyo., measured 7 inches of new snow and Flagstaff, Ariz., 4 inches.

The Arizona community now is buried under 16 inches of accumulated snow.

Additional snowfalls of at least 4 inches were expected in the northern portions of Arizona and New Mexico to Colorado.

Light snow dusted the northern sections of the Rockies and plains and scattered portions of the Great Lakes and fine rain fell in northern California and parts of the Pacific Northwest.

Clear skies covered Southern California, Texas and New England.

Temperatures before daybreak ranged from 8 below zero at Grand Forks, N.D., to 67 at Key West, Fla.

Washington Residents Protest Dump

A group of Washington Twp. residents met at Washington School Thursday to discuss the proposed location of a sanitary landfill in the township on land owned by the county.

Residents have learned Commissioners Charles Morris, Wayne Hines and Dick T. Toole have been considering utilizing the county-owned land for a landfill.

A committee was appointed to work with township trustees to get more information and facts on the proposal. Members of the committee are:

Ned Dresbach, chairman; Robert Cole, Carl Agin, Orley Bosworth, Sterley Croman, Charles Kirkpatrick and John Henn.

The group discussed at the meeting that a landfill would be in violation of township zoning laws.

It was felt by those at the meeting that the landfill would pollute the air, water supply and natural resources of the area, including Hargus Lake.

Real estate prices would be deflated by the landfill, the group feels.

Health Care Center Plans For Circleville Unveiled

The Circleville - Pickaway Corporation unveiled plans for a proposed health service center Thursday at the Rotary Club meeting.

The corporation will build the facility on a 9-acre tract of land on Clark Drive immediately south of Circleville High School. It will be a combined convalescent-nursing-rest home.

Robert Kenworthy, president of the locally controlled investment organization, said that financial arrangements are expected to be completed soon and actual construction should begin sometime in May.

Circleville - Pickaway Corporation is an investment organization formed to invest funds in such a way not only to make a profit for the stockholders but also to benefit the community.

KENWORTHY said that much study had been given to projects, and it was decided that a real need existed for a health facility such as the one proposed. Members of the corporation have been working on the proposal for nearly a year.

Patients will be eligible for medicare and Medicaid benefits. It will be the only rest home in the county eligible for such benefits according to Kenworthy.

A 60-bed facility will be built initially with plans for ultimate expansion to 240 beds.

The dining room and kitchen will be built for a capacity of 240.

Crucial Test Carries Hopes Of Moon Shot

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Expertly guiding their fragile lunar module, astronauts James A. McDivitt and Russell L. Schweickart today stalked the Apollo 9 command ship across the heavens, aiming for a linkup vital to U.S. moon-landing plans.

They started the hazardous rendezvous mission at 7:40 a.m. EST when they disengaged the lunar module, or LEM, from Apollo 9 after a brief hangup when the docking mechanism didn't unlatch immediately.

They flew more than 100 miles away and then began the chase. They were to link up in mid-afternoon after a separation of nearly seven hours.

Air Force Col. David R. Scott was left alone in the command module ready to speed to the rescue if something went wrong with the LEM.

The two vehicles maneuvered close by initially, because, for the first time, men were orbiting the earth in a ship that can't get them home. The LEM was built to operate in space and on the moon but cannot re-enter the earth's atmosphere.

So it was mandatory that McDivitt and Schweickart return to the command module to get home.

After making certain all systems were working, McDivitt and Schweickart took off, firing a series of jet bursts that placed them in a 156-mile high orbit, 10 miles above Scott's command module.

At the higher altitude, the LEM took longer to make a circuit of the earth and gradually fell behind, reaching maximum trailing distance of 113 miles about 11:37 a.m.

Shortly before that, the two pilots fired the LEM descent engine—the one designed to land the craft on the moon—for the last time and then shed the lower half of the vehicle, including the spindly landing legs.

This reduced the weight of the LEM from about 30,000 to 9,000 pounds.

At the same time they briefly fired the ascent stage engine, the rocket designed to lift men off the moon.

"The staging went okay," McDivitt reported.

The resulting orbital path was 10 miles below that of Scott and the LEM started to catch up, flashing through space in hot pursuit of its quarry.

The gap between hunter and hunted narrowed gradually as McDivitt and Schweickart executed maneuvers similar to those that astronauts will have to make in launching themselves from the moon.

Expect More Bodies To Be Found

PROVINCETOWN, Mass. (AP) — Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis said today "I expect more bodies to be found" in an isolated reach of Cape Cod sand dunes where crude graves have yielded the corpses of four girls.

Antone Costa, 25, an unemployed carpenter and one-time taxidermist, was arrested on a murder charge soon after the hacked bodies of two girls from Providence, R.I., were unearthed two days ago.

Dist. Judge Gershom D. Hall ordered Costa committed to the Bridgewater State Hospital Thursday for a mental examination.

Dinis said he based his belief that a number of additional slayings had been committed on the fact that several missing person reports on Cape Cod girls were still unsolved.

The two Rhode Island girls were Patricia Walsh, 23, a school teacher, and Mary Ann Wysocki, 23, a college student, both of Providence.

Dr. Daniel H. Hiebert, district medical examiner, who performed autopsies on their bodies, said both were shot dead and then hacked apart.

Proxmire Says Nixon Won't Make Hard Inflation Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William Proxmire declared today the Nixon administration is trying to fight inflation with an empty policy and has shirked "the tough, unpopular presidential duty to nail inflationary wage demands and price increases in their tracks."

The Wisconsin Democrat specifically criticized the administration for not taking action to roll back an announced oil industry price increase which he said "may cost American consumers a billion dollars."

Proxmire, who is vice chairman of the Senate-Economic Committee, said hearings before the group have revealed that the administration seeks to contain inflation "with neutral fiscal and monetary policies and gentle generalizations."

This means, he said, that there will be little or no budget surplus in the year ahead and no cutback in the growth of money and credit.

Proxmire commented in a statement after the committee wound up nearly three weeks of hearings on the state of the economy.

During final testimony Thursday, a spokesman for the National Association of Manufacturers complained that the administration has not convinced business and consumers it means business in curbing inflation. The Chamber of Commerce, however, praised its "cautious, gradualistic approach to bringing inflation under control."

Proxmire said a New York speech Wednesday by Chairman Paul McCracken of the Council of Economic Advisers, which urged price and wage restraint was "far too little and it may be much too late."

"Chairman McCracken's

speech exposes the emptiness of the administration's fight against inflation. He admits that wage increases far exceeding productivity increases are inflationary . . .

"But where Dr. McCracken and the Nixon administration have failed is in resolutely walking away from the tough unpopular presidential duty to nail inflationary wage demands and price increases in their tracks — by name.

Grant To Assist Schools In Getting Teachers Slated

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A grant of $615,679 to assist Ohio School districts attract and train additional teachers and teacher aides was announced by State Sup of Public Instruction Martin W. Essex today.

He said the grant, financed under tone phase of the Education Professions Development Act of 1967, will provide about $450,000 for local districts during this year, and the balance for state projects to meet specific teacher needs.

Essex said the Ohio grant will enable the Department of Education to support the efforts of school districts experiencing critical teacher shortages.

The department will establish priorities of need, and all boards of education can apply for some of the money before a March 21 deadline.

Essex also announced the department has received approval from the U.S. Office of Education to develop a training program to prepare industrial personnel to become teachers for trade and industrial education.

The budget projected for the first year starting July 1 will be $242,879. Essex, at the board meeting scheduled next Monday, will recommend appointment of a director and employment of additional teacher education personnel for the training program prior to July 1. He will propose that a program director be employed beginning April 1 at Kent State, and beginning June 1, assignment of a teacher educator to each university participating in the program — Kent State, Ohio State Toledo and Cincinnati.

In addition, in connection with the same program of the Trade and Industrial Service in the Division of Vocational Education, Essex will recommend the board approve supplemental contracts with the institutions. Kent State would receive $5,650 to implement the program and the others would each receive $11,130.

At its meeting Monday the state board is expected to adopt a plan for the reorganization of the Advisory Council to the Division of Vocational Education to meet requirements of the Vocational Education Amendments of 1968.

Essex said he would also recommend transfer of 64 acres in Moorefield Township, Clark County, from Northeastern Local School District to Springfield City School District.

He also will recommend approval of Cedarville College for teacher preparation leading to certification of teachers in certain academic subjects at the secondary level.

He said he would recommend appointment of Dr. Russell A. Working to the post of director of the Division of Research, planning and Development effective July 1, and that this title of the division be substituted for its present Division of Research. Dr. Working would receive an annual salary of $15,600 under the recommendation.

At the Monday meeting Essex also will recommend establishment of a post of assistant superintendent for vocational rehabilitation, and that Dr. Jack Hutchison be named to the post at an annual salary of $19,552.

Sentence Ohioan For Bank Robbery

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — U.S. District Judge Frank J. Battisti sentenced Howard S. Atkinson, 24, Youngstown, to 15 years in federal prison Thursday on a bank robbery charge.

Atkinson was indicted last October for the $14,748 robbery of the Newport Office of the Peoples Bank of Youngstown last Aug. 21. He pleaded guilty.

Debt Ceiling Change Nixed

House Rejects Nixon Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has been dealt the first legislative setback of his six-week-old administration—refusal by the House Ways and Means Committee to refigure the national debt ceiling as he requested.

Instead of a redefined limit giving the Treasury $17 billion in new borrowing power, the committee approved Thursday a temporary $12 billion increase.

It will get the Treasury through some tight squeezes anticipated for next month and late summer. But in political terms it means the new administration will have to come back to the Democratic-controlled Congress early in 1970 to ask for another increase and face quizzing on its economy record.

The arrangement Nixon sought was expected to postpone debt limit problems at least two years and possibly indefinitely. In the past, Republicans have teamed with conservative Democrats to keep Democratic administrations returning annually to Congress when they wanted to raise the ceiling.

The present limit is $365 billion. The committee approved a $12 billion increase through June 30, 1970.

Nixon had proposed a rearrangement of the debt subject to limitation that would have resulted in a $300 billion ceiling, while at the same time giving the Treasury the additional $17 billion borrowing authority.

While the Ways and Means Committee took no formal votes on the issue, the Democratic majority was understood to be heavily against the Nixon proposal.

Congress could reverse the committee action, but this is highly unlikely. The House will debate the issue next week.

Solons Study Military Influence On Nation's Action

By HARRY KELLY
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A new dispute over whether the military tries to indoctrinate civilians to influence U.S. policy is growing in the debate on ratification of the nuclear non-proliferation treaty and approval of an antimissile system.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee now is adding to the official record of its nuclear treaty hearings excerpts from military officers' speeches at armed services' seminars on national security for civilians.

The excerpts, obtained by The Associated Press, include comments on Jewish political influence on U.S. policy in the Middle East, and the role of America as leader of the Western World. There also is criticism of Vietnam policy, the "extended childhood" of some continuing college "well into their twenties" as contrasted with the maturity of others "epitomized by Vietnam returnees." And there are suggestions that part of the country's troubles stem from a failure of leaders to measure up.

During the treaty hearings last month, Committee Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., complained to Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird about military activities capable of "influencing public opinion and thus, decisions on such issues as deployment on the Sentinel anti-missile system.

He cited the controversial public relations program proposed by Lt. Gen. Alfred D. Starbird to sell the Sentinel system as well as the Pentagon's national security seminars.

The Sentinel question came up at an armed forces seminar now underway in Dallas. Col. Robert T. Ho of the Air Force, one of five colonels assigned to lead the seminar, told the audience he believed the Sentinel system was a good plan and predicted that it eventually would be approved by Congress.

But if it isn't, he added, the nation "will be relying on other countries not to commit suicide by attacking the United States."

The two-week seminars are held for military reservists and other interested civilians.

Seven seminars were scheduled this fiscal year in Provo, Utah; Sioux Falls, S.D.; Battle

The Mayor's Report

Master Plan Progress

By MAYOR RICHARD L. GERHARDT

As was stated in this report several months ago, we would do our best to keep you informed of the progress on Circleville's Master Plan. I am happy to be able to report that much has been accomplished in the area of data gathering and in basic visual and sight observation analysis.

This, of course, is the first step in making a realistic and more important, a workable plan for growth in our City. An up to date base map has been prepared and presented to the Planning Commission. A neighborhood analysis has just been completed which will be the main tool on which any land use changes will be based. Both topographical and economic information is in the process of being collected.

As many of you might know, the Circleville Junior Women's Club and individual members of the Circleville Jaycees have been canvassing the City taking a Community Survey. The survey gives each person filling it out, the opportunity not only to answer the questions listed, but also to write his or her own personal comments. This will be an invaluable guide to not only the professional planners, but also to our City Planning Commission. The results will be made available to the public after the survey is completed.

After the data collection has been completed then the real heart of the planning effort will begin, that being the interpreting and analyzing of the collected information. This process will take considerable study and thought.

After this, individual preliminary plans will be presented in the areas of economic development, land use, utilities, traffic, and community facilities in addition to a preliminary overall master plan. It will then fall upon the Planning Commission to make sure that the plan is kept realistic and that it is "localized."

In doing this the survey mentioned above will be of great value, but more is going to be needed. Public meeting will be held to discuss the various preliminary plans.

gon; a U. S. Marine air field near Da Nang and the Central Highlands town of Dalat, 140 miles northeast of Saigon.

The U. S. Command said "over-all casualties and damage were reported as light."

More than half a dozen helicopters of the 9th Division were sprayed with shrapnel and damaged. Reports from Dong Tam said. Fourteen Americans were wounded there, and rockets also slammed into a U. S. Navy dock, causing light casualties and light damage aboard a landing ship.

At Dalat, a resort city as well as a South Vietnamese army training center, rockets and mortars struck a government administration building killing one child and wounding seven civilians.

U. S. headquarters said a number of outposts near populated areas were also shelled, causing "a few civilian casualties."

In one of the ground actions reported, infantrymen from the U. S. 25th Division sweeping attack corridors 43 miles northwest of Saigon ran into enemy troops firing small arms and machine guns.

3 Soldiers Given Medal Of Honor

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon bestowed the nation's highest award—the Medal of Honor—today on three Army men who he said "fought for the cause of freedom and peace" in Vietnam.

The presentation was a first for Nixon, and he said it was the highest honor for him thus far as President.

In a colorful East Room ceremony, the President presented the blue-ribboned medals with a handshake to Sgt. I.C. Fred W. Zabitosky, 26, of Trenton, N.J.; S. Sgt. Joe R. Hooper, 29, of Saugus, Calif.; and Spec. 5 Clarence E. Sasser, 21, of Rosharon, Tex.

Mrs. Golda Meir Officially Nominated Israeli Leader

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel's ruling Labor party today completed the nomination of former Foreign Minister Golda Meir to be Israel's next prime minister. Barring an unforeseen hitch, President Zalman Shazar will ask her no later than Monday to form a government.

The Labor party's central committee voted 287-45 to endorse the Jewish nation's leading woman politician as the successor to Prime Minister Levi Eshkol, who died Feb. 26 of a heart attack. The opposition came mainly from backers of Defense Minister Moshe Dayan, whose elevation to the prime ministry after the election is opposed by Mrs. Meir.

Mrs. Meir favors Deputy Prime Minister Yisgal Alon over Dayan. But political observers say she will need the popular Dayan to continue as defense minister to keep up public morale.

The one-eyed defense minister said earlier this week he would be willing to serve under Mrs. Meir if she was chosen by the party committee.

Now 70, the former Milwaukee schoolteacher will be Israel's fourth prime minister and probably its last government chief from the generation of immigrants who founded the Jewish nation. After her, the leadership is expected to pass on the native-born Sabras, like Allon and Dayan.

Although Labor party leaders had asked her last week if she would accept the post, Mrs. Meir withheld her decision until the central committee voting. Privately she expressed fear that the strain of leadership might prove too much for her health.

Amid the political activity, the war between the government and Arab terrorists continued. Police blew up several small houses owned by two Arabs in Old Jerusalem after caches of arms were found in the buildings.

A police spokesman said security forces destroyed five one-room huts and sheds in Wadi Joz and the second floor of a two-story building in the Abu-tor suburb.

The property belonged to two men who the spokesman said were members of the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine. The front is a Palestinian commando organization which has claimed its members bombed a Jerusalem supermarket on Feb. 21 and the cafeteria at the Hebrew University Thursday.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Rogers C. B. Morton of Maryland, who will become Republican national chairman next month, says he would be willing to discuss political convention reform and nonpartisan fundraising with the Democrats.

But, Morton said in an interview Thursday, no arrangements for joint studies have been made and he has not been approached directly on the subject.

"I don't think there should be a wall against communication at any level," he said, adding that within the Republican party "we are already talking about delegate selection. I think we are ahead of the Democrats in that matter."

Sen. Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma, the Democratic chairman, suggested the Republicans set up commissions on party structure and convention rules as the Democrats have done, and that a nonpartisan panel of specialists be established to advise both.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas has granted an unwanted stay of execution to a convicted killer scheduled to die next Wednesday in San Quentin prison.

Attorneys for Robert Lee Massie, 26, persuaded Douglas to spare him from the gas chamber until they could file a formal appeal, despite Massie's flat statement that "I don't want a stay of execution."

Massie received the death sentence for the Jan. 7, 1965, slaying of Mrs. Mildred Weiss, 48, during a robbery attempt in the driveway of her home in San Gabriel, Calif.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sources close to Otto F. Otepka say he may be offered a post on the Subversive Activities Control Board, a move that could settle the five-year-old controversy that began when he was fired as the State Department's chief security evaluator.

No one would confirm or deny the reports, but Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., said he had heard of the proposal and would "give attention to it." He denied sponsoring the suggestion.

Otepka was fired on grounds he provided secret information from department files to the Senate internal security subcommittee. A series of hearings led to an order that he be demoted, reprimanded and transferred, and the decision was upheld by the Civil Service Commission.

SACB members are paid $36,000, and the job entails little work. There is an opening.

Capital Footnotes

The Labor Department reports that 1969 opened with the highest level of strikes in 16 years and the highest lost-time figure in 23 years. It said there were 320 work stoppages involving 182,000 workers in January. The strikes cost the economy 3.4 million man-days of working time.

Nathaniel Samuels, a managing partner of the Wall Street investment banking firm of Kuhn, Loeb and Co., has been named deputy undersecretary of state for economic affairs, the State Department's fourth-ranking post.

The first building, containing 130 units, may be completed by the end of 1969.

The total number of units planned for Chillicothe is 242, culminating three years of effort by the city's Metropolitan Housing Authority for the apartment projects.

Joseph Skilken Co. of Columbus are contractors for the $4,122,000 project.

Work on the first MHA units will commence in within 10 days on a site at Fourth and Walnut Sts.

The Meaning of Discipleship

JESUS ANSWERS IMPORTANT QUESTIONS

Scripture—Mark 10:1-51.

By R. H. RAMSEY
ALTHOUGH Jesus frequently talked about heaven, the life to come, angels, spiritual values and the virtue of sacrifice, He was not a mystic or philosopher who knew little of the practical problems of life. The fact is that Christ talked constantly about life's problems, but in the light of eternal truths. He lived among men, neither isolating Himself nor confining His fellowship to a select group whose thoughts were identical to His. Throughout his ministry He was confronted by various individuals and groups some of whom disagreed with Him, and others with great needs which only He could meet.

The chapter opens with the Pharisees testing of Jesus as a teacher. They were endeavoring to get Him to commit Himself on the Law of Moses by asking for His views on divorce. His answer makes it clear that a marriage, once formed, must not be arbitrarily broken; that there must be no easy way of divorce.

In Mark 9 we found the Lord taking a child in His arms and telling the disciples that "Whoever shall receive one of such children in my name, receive me." Despite this teaching the disciples later rebuked those wished to help him. Despite his wealth, and high social standing, he was willing to publicly kneel before this Galilean carpenter and ask Him about that which had eluded him for so long, eternal life.

Jesus was perfectly aware of what this man-who-had-everything wanted, but He was obviously unsure of how desperately he wanted it. And the Lord tested him, telling him to dispose of the one thing he felt he could not live without — his wealth. Jesus was not implying that all who would follow Him should dispose of whatever they owned, for eternal life cannot be obtained by giving up anything — or everything — on this earth. Nor can it be obtained by putting one's hope and trust in any worldly thing, whether it be material, a person or an ideal.

Jesus urged all men to lay up treasures in heaven, but in the rich young ruler's case, his treasures could be laid up in heaven only as his earthly treasures were laid down. The demand was too much for him and he went away unhappy. He wanted eternal life, but not at the expense of his earthly treasure, social standing and standard of living.

This young man went away who brought children to Jesus "that He should touch them." But Jesus demanded the children be brought to Him, reminding the disciples again that the Kingdom of God belongs to such children and all who would enter the Kingdom of God must do so as innocently and helplessly as little children.

Christ's interview with the rich young ruler is recorded in three of the Synoptic Gospels. This man was not satisfied with what he had. His possessions, his community standing, his moral power, his youth and health were not enough to meet the deepest need of his heart, and he knew it. What he sought was what all men in their better moments have longed for down through all ages. He had heard the call of the infinite and yearned for eternal life.

Respectfully, reverently he knelt before Jesus and asked if there was something he should do, some heroic task or suffering he should undertake to obtain eternal life.

After gently chiding the young ruler that none save God can be addressed as "Good," Jesus questioned his obedience to certain of the Old Testament laws. The young man said he had obeyed them from childhood and Jesus, observing his earnestness, felt drawn to him and unhappy through his own choosing. He could serve God only at the expense of his personal wealth. St. Thomas a Becket had no choice in the matter. Ordered by his king to serve God, he willingly disposed of all his worldly goods in order to do it rightly and well.

The interview with the rich young ruler gave Jesus an opportunity to expand on the basic matter involved. It is impossible for one who trusts in riches to enter the Kingdom of God, for the false trust in earthly riches proscribes the true trust in God's grace. Man, by himself, can do nothing toward his salvation. The more our hope in ourselves dies—whether we are rich or poor—the more our hope in God and His grace rises. Wealth does not limit God's power to save a man, but it makes it harder, as we have seen, for a man to yield himself, completely to God.

When Peter mentioned that he and the other disciples had already done what the rich young ruler refused to do, Jesus replied that their sacrifices would be richly repaid, even in this world. And with eternal life in the next, where the humble, helpful servant of others will be recognized as the greatest while the great and prominent will be the most humble.

Antioch May Still Lose Federal Aid

YELLOW SPRINGS, Ohio (AP)—Antioch College President James P. Dixon is expected to reply soon to a federal government threat to cut off financial aid because of an alleged case of segregation in reverse.

School officials said Thursday Dixon is studying a federal order to desegregate Antioch's Black Studies Institute.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare ordered Antioch to stop limiting admission to the institute on the basis of race, and gave it 120 days to comply with the directive or face the loss of federal funds—about $1.5 million.

The government said the black program is a violation of the Civil Rights Act because only Negroes are in the program, which includes an all-black dormitory.

Dixon has said the institute is an experimental project to provide "a special educational program with special educational benefits." HEW, however, rejected this claim.

Views on Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—By a coincidence, crank telephone calls have been important plot elements in two police-action stories this week.

On Tuesday night, it was Lieutenant Haines' wife in "N.Y.P.D." who was being harassed by strange calls. On Thursday night's "Ironside," it was another of the chief's old friends, a beautiful widow with lots of money and a beastly brother.

Lieutenant Haines immediately put two of his best detectives to work in an effort to find the tormentor. Chief Ironside and his aides dropped everything else to uncover a plot.

It may be that it works that way if one has special contacts with police departments. But in real life, when that sort of thing happens, the victim finally decides the best way out is to change to an unlisted telephone number. That usually works since in real life the caller is usually someone who has picked a name and number from a directory—rarely is it the deliberate kickoff point leading to some foul deed.

Any family receiving a flurry of strange telephone calls is likely to become at the least nervous. Since in both TV stories the women reacted with frantic fear to the calls, the idea might serve to stimulate cruel practical jokers or deranged persons to copy it.

From time to time television has been accused, among other things, of providing "blueprints of crime" in its police and private eye series. Sharp details nowadays are frequently blurred a bit but most of us know about the fingerprints and getaway cars.

"It Takes a Thief" and "Mission: Impossible" are two shows in which all sorts of criminal techniques are used but all in a worthy cause and nobody could possibly copy them.

It doesn't take much skill, however, to pick up a phone and proceed to scare the daylight out of the person on the other end of the line.

Indefatigable Judy Carne of "Laugh-In" who might have spent the summer drying out from her water-drenched sock-it-to-me season with the show will spend her vacation this year turning out a dozen "Summer Music Hall" shows for NEC. She will work with the singing team of Sandler and Young in programs taped in England. The other six shows in the series will star Don Ho and be made in his home base, Hawaii. The summer series starts in mid-May.

Urges Surtax Be Extended

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Charles Walker, under secretary of the treasury, said Thursday an extension of the 10 per cent surtax "is essential from an economic standpoint."

"No one wants to extend the tax any longer than necessary," added Walker, who was here to address a banking group at Ohio State University.

Walker was hopeful that economic brakes will slow the national rate of inflation by the end of 1969.

But he couldn't put a time table on the slowing down process. "We have to move gradually but move firmly to put on the brakes," he said.

Short cut methods of controlling inflation, he said, would result in a sharp economic recession. He said recent economic and employment moves have shown that the government's revenue is tied to employment.

SUPER WEAPON—Two congressmen report that Brig. Gen. James A. Hebbeler (above), director of the U.S. Army's chemical-biological warfare research and nuclear operations, told them the U.S. has one weapon, a substance called "GB," so lethal a 300-gallon cylinder of it could kill a billion persons. He also told them the nation's capability is far behind that of the Soviet Union.

'Traffic Scout' Russ Guerra Hurt In Shootout With Thug

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Police Capt. Russell E. Guerra, widely known in the Dayton area for his radio reports on traffic conditions, was wounded seriously Thursday night in a furious gunfight with a robbery suspect.

Guerra, 44, was rushed to Good Samaritan Hospital with bullet wounds in the leg and abdomen.

He was reported in satisfactory condition today following surgery.

His assailant, who was shot twice in the shoulder, was apprehended after collapsing a short distance away, and for a time shared a hospital emergency room with Guerra.

He was identified as Ernie Lavato, 29, Fairborn, who was in critical condition.

Guerra emptied his gun during the battle and then crawled bleeding to his cruiser and radioed: "I've been shot."

Guerra became well known in this area while serving for 15 years as "traffic scout" for radio station WHIO. He used a helicopter in relaying traffic conditions to the public and later incorporated the aircraft as an arm of police surveillance.

Guerra also was widely known in area sports circles, and for a brief period was the play-by-play radio announcer for the Dayton Gems hockey team.

Police Lt. Lyle H. Grossnickle said Guerra was about to go off duty Thursday night when he answered the radio holdup call at a drug store in Dayton's North Side Riverdale section.

Guerra spotted a man who answered the suspect's description and the gun battle ensued, Grossnickle said.

A witness to the shooting. Mrs. John Protos, 41, said she heard the policeman yell, "Drop that gun. Put up your hands or I'll kill you."

She said the man slid around the front of the car, bent over, and suddenly shots rang out.

"The cop goes down; the guy stumbles, picks up his gun and takes off," Mrs. Protos said.

Some Arkansas Residents Want Higher Taxes

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—About 400 persons gathered on the steps of the Arkansas Capitol and demanded an increase in taxes.

Most wore buttons saying "Arkansas is worth paying for" and "if not now... when?"

Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, House Speaker Hayes McClerkin and Sen. Moreell Gathright, president pro tempore of the Senate, greeted the crowd.

Rockefeller's $100-million tax increase program is making little progress in the legislature.

Mrs. Peyton Kolb, head of citizens for good government, said the group was asking the legislature to "tax us substantially more."

Fremont Warehouse Leveled By Blaze

FREMONT, Ohio (AP)—Fire raged out of control early today at a Northern Ohio Sugar Co. warehouse here, police reported. All off duty firemen were summoned in efforts to bring the flames under control. Two township fire departments also were called to the scene.

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Curbside comments of a Pavement Plato:

Conservationists are alarmed about the number of species of wild life which are in danger of extinction. How about a species of tame life which is in some peril, too—namely, middle-aged people?

At present they may not be in any danger of disappearing from the earth, but they are in danger of being forgotten and their contribution to society overlooked.

In a time of ever-increasing accent on youth, it is the teenager who gets all the attention and concern. Who worries about the middle-aged? Practically nobody but himself.

Science and industry spend untold millions thinking up new products for the teen-ager and fresh ways to please him. But do you see science and industry coddling their brains to dream up new kinds of fun for people over 40? Nope.

It is hard to understand all this toadying to the whims of the teen-ager. Has one of them built a mighty bridge lately, come up with a better mouse trap, or even made a trip into space except with the help of a psychedelic drug?

No, sir, they have not. When you get right down to it, the teen-ager is largely an untested potential, whereas your middle-ager can show a clear record of actual performance.

Our civilization, such as it is, is clearly dependent upon that performance. Middle-agers—those between 40 and 65—probably make up the largest single segment of the population. They outnumber the preteens, the teen-agers, the young adults, or the oldsters.

They hold the most jobs, earn the most money, pay the most bills, fill Uncle Sam's coffers with their tax dollars. It is chiefly by their labor and as a result of their sacrifices that our society operates. How long would the Bell Telephone System prosper if teen-agers had to pay for their own phone calls?

Since middle-agers are so vital to the national welfare, should they not then be duly honored for their contributions? Why not a National Middle-agers Month or, if that seems like overgilding the lily, a National Middle-agers Day at the very least?

On such a day all middle-agers would receive a congratulatory letter from their governments—local, state and federal. Perhaps middle-agers might be allowed to ride free on public buses and subways for the day.

Some kind of tribute certainly is long overdue. If middle-agers continue to go unrewarded and unrecognized, there is always the danger that, in a mass act of self-pity, they may, on some dark night, rush lemminglike into the sea and drown in the black waters of oblivion.

Gee, teen-agers you wouldn't want that to happen, would you?

MANY BIG football games have been played in abominable weather, but never have two teams faced worse conditions than those confronting Penn and Cornell one Thanksgiving Day for their traditional contest.

Rain was coming down in buckets, and the field—not to mention the spectators—was soaked. The Cornell captain won the toss and, asked whether his team would kick off or receive, decided, "I guess we'll be better off kicking with the tide!"

Recently, reports Dick Schaap, the French gourmet, which one might think had better things to do with its time these troubled days, took a survey among school girls to discover the famous woman they would like most to emulate when they grew up. Line Renaud, a well-endowed singer whose technique has overtones of Edith Piaf, flavored with a dash of Chevalier, and who has no fewer than three spectacular productions currently enrapturing art lovers in Las Vegas, came in second. Narrowly beating her out for first place was a nonsinger named Joan of Arc.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

The next time you visit a doctor, notice how many of the questions you ask can only be answered by prophecy and the guesswork demanded of him. If he falls into the trap of saying "it will last ten days or six months" both the patient and the doctor are heading for disappointment.

A physician learns over the years that certain diseases can generally take about a certain length of time. There are so many individual factors in the makeup of every patient that it is impossible to say with any degree of certainty how an illness would fit into a time prophecy.

It is impossible to know how long a patient with serious heart disease or cancer will remain alive. Because too many strange and unaccountable things happen in the life cycle of man, speculation is worthless. The doctor knows what a patient's condition is today and again what it is in a few days but cannot possibly be expected to be a divining oracle about the duration of illness.

To make the demand of prophecy of a doctor is unfair because it places on him a burden that eventually can disrupt a valuable relationship. The patient is really the first to know that he is feeling better and then relays it to his doctor. This is far more sensible than the guesswork and disappointment of unscientific predictions.

Read streaks that run up the arm or the legs indicate an infection of the outer veins. This is known as phlebitis and is almost always traced to an infected crack or break in the skin of the feet or the hands.

Phlebitis is associated with tenderness and swelling and deserves immediate attention. Sometimes these red streaks may lead to a tender gland in the groin or one in the armpit. Treatment with wet dressings, rest and the antibiotics can almost always quickly control the extension of this condition and result in its cure. It is imperative that this be treated quickly and actively to avoid complications when the infection spreads into the deeper veins of the body.

Sudden episodes of profuse watery discharge from the nose are almost always due to an allergy. Some people believe that the diagnosis of allergy is overdone. It is true that the allergy diagnosis has unfortunately been used as a temporary stopgap to explain "unexplainable symptoms." The runny nose without any fever is not "the constant cold" that people think they have. Fever is rarely present with allergy and is usually found in people with colds due to infection.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — The corporate conglomerates are proving to be especially irritating as they come under criticism from Washington, from stock market officials, from each other and even from their once ecstatic stockholders.

So sensitive are their stock prices, for example, that recent criticism has sharply deflated the prices of some.

Most conglomerate are made up of substantial, well-developed companies with successful histories, mortared together by management, marketing awareness and various securities and borrowings.

In geology there is a graphic illustration of the conglomerate. It is a large, rounded boulder made up of many smaller rocks that have been shaped, honed, rolled and ground together by the great glaciers, and sometimes called puddingstone.

Curiosity about such companies is understandable, for they are a new phenomenon whose operating methods, goals and even results, good as they may appear on paper, are imperfectly understood.

It is their rapid growth, among other things, that causes immediate concern. Last year all records for mergers were shattered. The magazine Mergers & Acquisition counted more than 1,800 with a valuation of about $23 billion.

Where does such a powerful movement lead? What are its consequences to market freedom and prices? Are these companies healthy?

Are healthy companies being merged into oblivion? Do conglomerates disclose enough of their internal activities so stockholders can make decisions? Are their methods of financing, which include much borrowed money, dangerous?

Like any young, growing body, the conglomerates are responding somewhat awkwardly.

Many conglomerates have more than casual concern about maintaining the price of their stock because that stock, after all, is what enables them to purchase other companies. Price-earnings ratios are all important.

If, for example, a company creates an aura of success the stock market might reward it by bidding up the price of its shares to 35 times earnings.

This gives it much more leverage in seeking acquisitions than if its price-earnings ratio was nearer the average of about 18.

On the other hand, a falling stock price puts the conglomerate in an especially difficult position.

For one thing, it cannot grow as fast because its stock won't buy as much. And if it ceases to grow it loses its glamor. Then the problem compounds. It is amazing how quickly stockholders will abandon a company with fading charm.

It hasn't happened yet, on a large scale at least, but some business observers foresee the day when one conglomerate will gobble up a weakened, defenseless member of its own species.

That would be the ultimate triumph, for instead of getting one company at a time the surviving company might pick up several dozen.

Schlesinger Rides Again

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Arthur Schlesinger Jr., who was once close to the throne, can't really believe that he is out of power. With this post-election air of one who cannot credit the fact that the Republicans have won, he has accused Richard Nixon of "floundering around" and being an "almost invisible President!" — and this at a time when Nixon, on a ground tour of West European capitals, happened to be receiving a tumultuous welcome for paraphrasing John F. Kennedy's "I am a Berliner" speech in West Berlin. If this is "floundering," or "invisibility," then someone has to rewrite all the dictionaries.

In a further exhibition of his genius for coming in on a scrambled wave length, Schlesinger says that no President in memory has made so little effort in his first weeks in office to "define his purposes." This comes strangely from a historian. Harry Truman took office feeling that the sun, moon and stars had fallen on him. He exhibited a becoming humility for a period; then picked up steam gradually and ended with riproaring decisiveness. Dwight Eisenhower, according to Schlesinger's own criticism, spent eight years in the White House not saying or doing much of anything. As for JFK, he talked about getting the country moving, but it was LBJ, no friend of Schlesinger's, who put a floundering New Frontier program through Congress. If there is one thing Mr. Nixon has done, it is to "define" some purposes. He wants to open an era of negotiation with the Soviets. He wants to talk about cutting back arms and he also wants conversations with the Russians on defusing the Cold War all around the globe. He has agreed to a four-power discussion on the Middle East. He accepted the suggestion for reopening talks with Peking emissaries in Warsaw, but the Red Chinese never showed up. Nixon may be vastly disappointed in his hopes for an era of negotiation but he can hardly be accused of failure to "define his purposes."

To make up for President Nixon's alleged lack of purpose, Schlesinger, speaking for Americans for Democratic Action, proposes a four-fold program. He calls upon Congress to reject anti-ballistic missiles systems (they are "phony"), to take prompt action on the nuclear anti-proliferation treaty, to quadruple foreign aid, and to establish a subcommittee of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that will be charged with investigating the influence of the military on foreign policy. These are firm statements, but as it happens, Nixon has not been "floundering" or "purposeless" in the fields in which the ADA wishes to impose its own policy. Before leaving for Europe Nixon asked the Senate to act on the nuclear treaty (some of us would have preferred to see him "flounder" here until such time as the Soviets were willing to give something in exchange for a treaty which stands to help them more than it helps us).

As for the anti-ballistic missile system, Secretary of Defense Laird proposes to go ahead with it. Congress might stop him, but the Nixon Administration's decision has apparently been made. Is this "floundering"? We'll have to see. Incidentally, if anti-ballistic systems are "phony," why are the Russians building one? I wish I could be as certain as Arthur Schlesinger is when it comes to understanding the mathematics of ballistic flight. But then, I never went further in college than calculus.

The Schlesinger call to investigate the effect of the military on foreign policy might lead to strange conclusions. If it had been left to the generals and the admirals, we'd have blown the North Vietnamese dikes and blockaded the ports long ago. On the other hand, it was Secretary of Defense McNamara, a civilian, who persuaded Lyndon Johnson to put hobbles on our Vietnamese war effort. Does Schlesinger want McNamara discredited? I always thought it was Dean Rush whom he hated.

Melvin Robert Laird, of course, hasn't been in office long enough to influence foreign policy. If he has his way, it will be because Nixon agrees with him. So why not investigate Nixon?

Finally, how many of Schlesinger's favorite Congressmen would vote to quadruple foreign aid at this point on the inflationary spiral? Not even Teddy Kennedy could whip the boys into line to do the Schlesinger-ADA bidding. And anyway, Teddy Kennedy has enough sense not to try it.

Dear Editor: I am writing in regards to the good job our State Patrol are doing at the cross-roads of 56 and 159 intersection where a 4-way stop has been put up recently. They are really doing a splendid job.

I am one of the victims of this crossroad and I am still unable to work. When the stop signs was put up my mother wrote you in hopes people would see her editorial and be sure to stop. There was just too much suffering. So thanks to everyone who is obeying the laws for everyone's safety.

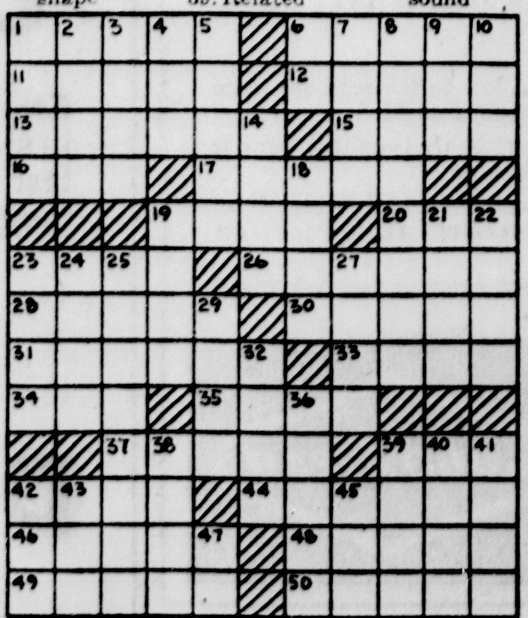

A victim of this crossroad.

Welfare Costs To Skyrocket, Solons Told

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A state welfare official said Wednesday that the number of persons receiving Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) assistance is expected to go up nearly 50 per cent in Ohio by 1971.

Assistant Welfare Director Robert Canary, testifying before the House Finance Committee said "most of the time such predictions have been understated, the case."

The committee was reviewing a welfare department budget which indicates Ohio will have to spend $243 million more over the next two years to extend current benefits to new recipients.

Department estimates, Canary said, are that by 1971 the monthly ADC role will be 327, 132 persons, as compared with the current monthly roll of 217, 361.

Rep. Ethel Swanbeck R - 14 Huron, asked Canary if an outside study of the whole welfare question by a citizens' panel or consulting firm is not needed.

Canary replied that "legislation should clearly define what it wants" and noted that a joint legislative committee to review the welfare situation is being organized.

Rep. John Galbraith R-76 expressed shock at the department's predictions, calling it a "phenomenal increase" and asked "where are these people coming from?"

Rep. Robert Netzley R - 7 Laura said much of the problem results from unwanted children being born into welfare families. He asked Canary for a study to compare time spent on welfare by small as opposed to large families.

McNeely Chairman Of Electric Utility
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — J. L. McNeely, president of the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co., Wednesday was elected chairman of the board, succeeding the late Harry M. Miller. McNeely will continue as the firm's chief executive officer.

Arthur G. Green, vice president and controller, was elected a director, fill the vacancy on the board created by Miller's death.

Sleep in Heavenly Peace

Peace is a baby sleeping. Peace is a walk in God's forests. Peace is gentle Love for one another.

Great word . . . Peace! We see it in the newspapers, on T.V., in magazines beside horror pictures of war and carnage. But, Peace is not something outside ourselves. It is within. It is the quiet calmness of mind and soul, unperturbed, undismayed.

But it is difficult to acquire this frame of mind, this elusive state of soul, this tranquil spirit.

To achieve it we need guidance and help, and therefore we turn to our Church. Here, one sets problems in order, sees difficulties in perspective and consults with one's Creator. Peace of heart is a two-way street—our way to God, and His way to us.

Cancer Checkup Available Monday Evening

On Monday, from 7 to 9 p.m. Pickaway County women of low income families will be given another opportunity to have a free cancer checkup. The checkup, consisting of a pelvic and breast examination and a Pap smear, will be given at the Early Detection Cancer Clinic, which will be in session at Berger Hospital that night.

The Clinic is a continuing service of the Pickaway County Chapter of the American Cancer Society. It is staffed entirely by volunteers. The physicians, the nurses, the clerical staff, those who provide transportation for the patients and any other workers connected with the Clinic all donate their time and services.

All these efforts are made so that women who cannot afford to pay a private physician can still have a cancer checkup annually.

Mother-Daughter Banquet Planned By Bible Class

The March meeting of the Westminster Bible Class of the Presbyterian Church was held in the home of Miss Ethel Kiger, Collins Court. Mrs. Guy Campbell, president, opened the business meeting by reading from Psalm 113.

Discussion concerned preliminary plans for the group's annual Mother-Daughter Banquet which is always held in May. It was agreed to have the meal served in the Social Center of the church. Mrs. Campbell appointed Mrs. Walter Downing to contact the executive committee to complete arrangements.

Due to the early date of Easter this year the time for the next meeting will be at the convenience of the hostesses, Mrs. J. B. Stevenson, Mrs. George McDowell and Miss Alda Bartley.

Miss Kiger led the devotions which were followed by meditation using "Rest" from the writings of Grace Nowell Crowel and concluding with prayer.

The group made shamrock bags for candy to be placed on the trays of patients at the Smith Nursing Home where Mrs. C. E. Davis, a member of the class, is presently residing.

Humorous verses were recited by Mrs. Harry Stevenson and Miss Martha Warner.

Refreshments were served by Miss Kiger, Mrs. Charles Smith and Mrs. Stevenson.

Cracked Paint Problem Plagues Home-Owners

By ELEANOR ROSS
Having already examined some of the reasons for the failure of an exterior house paint job to live up to expectations, I'll get cracking on cracking.

This is the splitting of the paint film all the way down to the wood. The paint starts to curl at the edges and reveals even more wood. Excessive moisture behind the paint and poorly mixed and applied paint are frequent contributors to this sad condition.

Difficult Answer
The solution is a hard one. It entails stripping the paint down to the wood and doing an immediate repair job. Be sure to mix the paint thoroughly, to follow the manufacturer's directions and suggestions when repainting and to paint only on a thoroughly dry surface, if oil-base paint is used. Anything less won't do.

Then there's the matter of cross grain cracking which may occur in an older house that has too many coats of paint on it already. The stiff thick layers of accumulated paint are not flexible enough to follow the normal contraction and expansion of the wood. The best and frequently the only solution to this problem is to remove the paint completely down to the bare wood and then repaint.

Another pesky paint problem is peeling, a condition that may occur between the top coat and the underlayer or between the entire paint film and the wood.

Usual Reasons
Common causes of peeling are paint applied over a dirty surface or over a too smooth or a too glossy surface. This situation is remedied by sanding down the old paint completely and washing the area thoroughly with a detergent solution.

Once all the common causes of paint failure are recognized and eliminated and an adequate amount of good quality paint applied, the homeowner can settle back and enjoy his newly painted house confident that it will remain in good condition for the years that he had envisioned. Isn't that something to look forward to with the coming of spring?

Fire Rips KSU Hall

KENT, Ohio (AP)—Fire early today virtually gutted West Hall on the Kent State University campus, a converted World War II Army barracks used by art classes.

About 20 members of the Kent Fire Department battled the flames as some 1,000 students watched.

It was believed that no one was in the two-story frame building when the fire broke out.

Cause of the fire was not determined and no estimate of the damage was immediately available.

Thursday, art students at KSU threatened to boycott the school of art unless their demands for improved and enlarged classroom and work facilities are met by the start of the spring quarter March 27. Petitions containing 1,300 signatures were presented to the administration Thursday following a rally.

Sentence Youth For Possession Of Marijuana

CINCINNATI (AP)—Dennis P. Burdsal, 19, Cincinnati, charged with possessing marijuana, has been sentenced to an indeterminate term in the reformatory.

Judge Lyle Castle of Common Pleas Court sentenced Burdsal after examining a probation report.

Castle said the report indicated that Burdsal had been known to narcotics squad officers and had been identified as a user and pusher of drugs.

He was arrested Sept. 20 when he and a girl were found bleeding near his car after it had hit a utility pole on a street here. Police searched him at the hospital, after he was treated, and said they found a packet of marijuana in his pocket.

Indian Handicrafts Are Big Export Item

NEW DELHI (AP) — Indian handicrafts are important foreign exchange earners for India, officials statistics here show.

They were expected to yield $86.7 million in 1968 or $13.3 million more than 1967.

This is almost equal to earnings for traditional items, including tea, jute and engineering goods.

Fancy jewelry in 1967 earned $40 million in foreign exchange. Handmade woolen carpets rank next, with an expected revenue of $16 million in 1968.

No less than 1.2 million people are engaged in handicrafts work. The government is drawing up plans to improve their working conditions, including old age pension schemes.

Seven CHS Lettermen Begin Training For New Track Season

By JOE TOMLINSON, RICK SIMS and BILL JOYCE

With Spring coming upon us, it will soon be time for track season to start. Returning to the team this year are seven lettermen.

Steve Cassidy, son of Mrs. Elva Ethel Cassidy, lives at 373 E. Union St. He participates in the 180-yard low hurdles, 120-yard high hurdles and 880-yard relay. He has been a member of the track team for a couple of years.

About the team Steve said, "I think we have a good chance to take the league this year." Steve plans to attend college after graduation next year.

One of the few four-year lettermen left at CHS is one of this week's featured track boys. Melvin Smith not only is one of a rare breed, but has the distinction of being the only four-year letterman in two sports, excelling not only in track, but also in cross country.

Melvin has been a member of two SCOL championship teams. In last year's league competition, he captured the league crown for the two-mile event. Melvin also holds the record in the two mile at CHS. He also takes part in the mile and half mile events.

Melvin had this to say about this year's team, "It's basically the same team we had last year, but the attitude is a lot better and I think we will recapture the league crown."

Tom Yeatts, son of Mrs. Hazel Yeatts, resides at 507 N. Pickaway St. with her and his little brother, Jerry.

He is a senior in the college prep curriculum and is a member of Stooze Club and Methodist Youth Fellowship.

In track Tom participates in 440 yard dash and the mile relay. During high school he has taken part in basketball and cross country.

"I enjoy running and competing against other boys from different schools that beat me last year."

The tall dark-haired boy who runs in the relays and the 440 on the track team is Dave Hopkins.

Dave, a two year letterman on the track team, resides at Route 2, with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Hopkins. He is a senior enrolled in the college prep course.

"The track team is going to be an improvement over last year's." This is Dave's opinion on how the track squad is going to do this year.

Besides participating in track, Dave was very active on the cross country team and the basketball team. After graduation, Dave plans to attend college.

Phil Diehl resides with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Diehl, on Route 3. Phil competes in two field events, the discus and shot-put. He takes place in varsity sports all year round, lettering in all three sports.

Phil is an active member of Stooze Club, being the treasurer, and is parliamentary of the Senior Class.

He has been accepted at Ohio State University and Purdue, but is undecided on which one to attend.

Phil had these comments about this year's team, "We have a lot more depth than last year and have a better chance of winning the league championship."

Hustle, desire and competitive spirit describe one of CHS's returning track lettermen, Jim Samuel. Jim lives with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. R. W. Samuel at 890 N. Court St.

He takes part in three events, including pole vault, broad jump and the 100-yard dash. Jim was a member of the league winning 880-yard relay team during his sophomore year.

His school activities include being a member of the Stooze Club and Student Council representative.

Jim's future plans include enrollment at Miami University next fall.

He feels that our team is strong enough to win the league, mainly because of fairly good depth in all events this year. During his spare time he lifts weights.

Mike Henderson is another of the returning lettermen. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Henderson, 138 Park Place. He has two sisters, Tami and Lisa, and a brother Jerry.

This 16-year-old trackster is enrolled in the college prep course. He lists as his hobbies playing football and basketball on weekends. He is looking forward to college in the future. Mike's track events include the 100-yard dash, 220 yard dash, and member of the mile relay team.

Do you think that students at CHS are beginning to feel spring fever and senioritis?

Debbie — Yes, when you walk down the hall and people keep bumping right smack into you, all glassy-eyed, something's happening.

Kevin Crites — I've got a fever, but it's not from spring! Brenda Simmons — Yes, because the seniors are getting that overruling spell again.

Steve Lingo — Yes, I don't feel like studying anymore. But then I never did anyway!

Cindi Radcliffe — I've noticed kids have been daydreaming in class and just plain goofing off. To me this is spring fever and I have it all year around.

Mrs. Wiggins — Beginning?! I only wish they were just beginning. Spring fever begins before the calendar even thinks of spring.

Dick Radcliff — A little bit, I think the wrestlers felt it worse.

Mindy Wood — Yes, they all look like they're daydreaming or half asleep. Nobody feels like doing anything constructive, just goof off. It'll pass over after school lets out for the summer.

Dennis Bass — Yes, kids are not concerned about anything! Sue Moore — Yes, kids are running around and forgetting about homework and you can sure tell it by their grades.

Circleville School Menu

Monday — hot pork barbecue sandwich, sweet potato fluff, cinnamon applesauce, milk.
Tuesday — beef stew, cottage cheese and pineapple, butter cookie, roll-butter, milk.
Wednesday — macaroni and cheese, cole slaw, peach half, bread-butter, milk.

He is a junior enrolled in the college prep course and plans to attend college and study law. Among his likes are pin-pong, golf, football, basketball, piano, food and theatrics. His dislikes include English, uneventful weekends, and dumb questions.

Mark is in his second year of Key Club and feels "It is a good club. It teaches a guy responsibility and gives him a sense of achievement."

When asked how he felt about being elected he replied, "It was a very close election and I was very happy that I won."

As new Key Club president, Mark plans to introduce more projects, attend conventions and try to promote better community relationships.

Other things that Mark is active in include Science Club and Choir. He also had one of the lead parts in the Junior Class play.

Jim Baker holds the title of vice president for the Key Club next year. Jim is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Baker and resides at 508 Edgewood Drive.

Jim is enrolled in the industrial course and after graduation plans to join the service and then continue his schooling.

Among Jim's likes are track, football, basketball, camping, skiing, airplanes and cream sodas.

Among his dislikes are world history, popcorn and getting up in the morning.

As this is his first year in the Key Club Jim feels the club "is a very active school service club which teaches you the responsibilities of manhood."

When asked how he felt about being elected he replied, "I felt very honored." Jim is also very active in DeMolay.

Scott Withers, a junior who resides at 1046 Lynwood Ave., was elected corresponding secretary for the Key Club for next year.

Tigers Lose; Plan Recoup

An air of disappointment spread throughout the arena as the Tigers of Circleville lost to Gahanna Lincoln 97 to 59.

The over-powering Lincoln Lions were led by 6 foot 7 inch Mike Browning, who dominated every phase of the game. Giving up too much height, the Tigers were doomed to defeat at the opening tipoff.

Although the basketball team fought hard, the Lions played a better brand of ball. Randy Halley paced the Tigers with 15 points, followed by Dave Horst with 12, and Charlie Jackson with 10. Never giving up, Circleville gave 100 per cent.

Going into the tournament game, Coach Sowder and his team were proud and optimistic. After the final buzzer, they were dejected, but still proud.

The loss to Gahanna ended the 59-69 basketball season for the CHS Tigers. But team members plan to work hard for a better record next year.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Dentist's Breath Is Breath-Taking

DEAR ABBY: I have very recently taken a job which requires me to work very close to a dentist. He has offices in one of the best professional buildings in town and his patients are fussy and well-to-do.

The first day, I noticed that the dentist had had onions or garlic for lunch. Whew! "Well," I figured, "that can happen to anyone once in a while."

Well, every day this week the dentist has come back from lunch smelling like an Italian pantry or a Kosher kitchen or whatever.

I can't understand why one of his patients doesn't say something to him. If I were a patient, I would, but I only work here. Any suggestions? I don't know how much longer I can take this.

NEW GIRL

DEAR GIRL: Tell him! He may appreciate it. And if he doesn't, your next job HAS to be better.

DEAR ABBY: There have been several occasions when I have turned down fellows for dates, and their retort was, "Well, then I guess you prefer girls."

This always leaves me speechless. Abby, please suggest

Putnam County Tax Bid Voided

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Franklin County Common Pleas Judge Archer E. Reilly ruled Wednesday that residents of Putnam County will not have to pay a $5 county auto license tag fee this year.

Putnam County commissioners had approved the permissive $5 tax last June 5 but proper notification failed to reach the Ohio Bureau of Motor Vehicles by Jan. 5 deadline. The commissioners filed a mandamus action seeking to compel the state registrar of motor vehicles to collect the fee this year.

Judge Reilly refused to grant the request order, noting that the bureau had no record of receiving notification prior to the deadline.

Cincinnati Council OKs Hotel-Motel Tax

CINCINNATI (AP) — City council approved Wednesday a 3 per cent hotel-motel tax and a 25 per cent boost in various city fees to help ease Cincinnati's financial situation. The tax and increases are expected to bring in an additional $500,000 a year.

a good reply to this silly remark.

LIKES MEN

DEAR LIKES MEN: If you honestly believe that your silence will incriminate you, say, "No. I prefer NO company to yours."

DEAR ABBY: I am not the kind of person who discusses my personal problems with friends, but I am so frustrated I have to talk to someone, and I do need some advice.

My husband holds a high executive position, and is a good provider for his family. He is well-liked by his business friends whom we entertain royally. I might add on these occasions my husband is great company and when he looks at me the love in his eyes is all a woman could ask for.

BUT, there is another side to him which is killing me. He never wants to accept invitations from people with whom he isn't involved in business. And he doesn't want me to invite "outside" friends here either. When I have gone against his wishes in this regard, I've suffered an evening of embarrassment and humiliation, so I have given up. (He will contradict me, or else he sits like a piece of stone and doesn't say a word all evening—except to talk to the dog.)

Abby, can you help me? I am not doing too well by myself.

FRUSTRATED

DEAR FRUSTRATED: That "love" you see in his eyes when you do his bidding strikes me as a fairly convincing performance, but it's only "approval," and perhaps a reward for obedience. When he's in a good mood, try to chisel an explanation off your piece of stone. If he doesn't care for the company of "outsiders," he should grow up and be a good sport once in a while just to please you.

DEAR ABBY: I have my own system for dealing with junk mail. I take all the material they send me, stuff it back into their return envelope with a large note "TAKE ME OFF YOUR MAILING LIST!" They have to ransom these envelopes from the postoffice in order to find out what they contain. I put everything in, including the envelope the junk mail came in. If there is only a return post card in the junk mail, I paste THAT on the outside envelope—with NO return address in evidence. It works like a charm.

If everybody did this, junk mail would die of natural causes.

Business Must

Shoulder Taxes, Carney Claims

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The business community is not paying its fair share of the state's tax burden, Senate Minority leader Charles J. Carney told the Fifth Biennial Legislative Conference of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce here Thursday.

"Tax balance is out of line," the Youngstown legislator said. "The business community of the state is going to have to pick up a larger share."

House speaker Charles F. Kurfess R-4 Bowling Green, told the conference he personally did not go along with any administration freeze on student fees at colleges and universities.

Kurfess said however, the Board of Regents had been given authority to act in the matter and that he would not fight it. Gov. James A. Rhodes proposed the freeze in his state of the State message Feb. 5.

Conte Convicted Of Pen Rioting, Gets 60 Years

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Howard John Conte, 34, the second of more than 50 Ohio Penitentiary inmates to be tried on rioting charges, was convicted Wednesday on four counts and sentenced to 10-60 years in prison.

A Franklin County Common Pleas Court jury deliberated about three hours before returning the verdict.

Judge Leonard J. Stern sentenced Conte to 5-30 year terms on each count, to be served in consecutive concurrent pairs. He starts serving the terms when he finishes a 1-25 year sentence on an armed robbery conviction in Cuyahoga County.

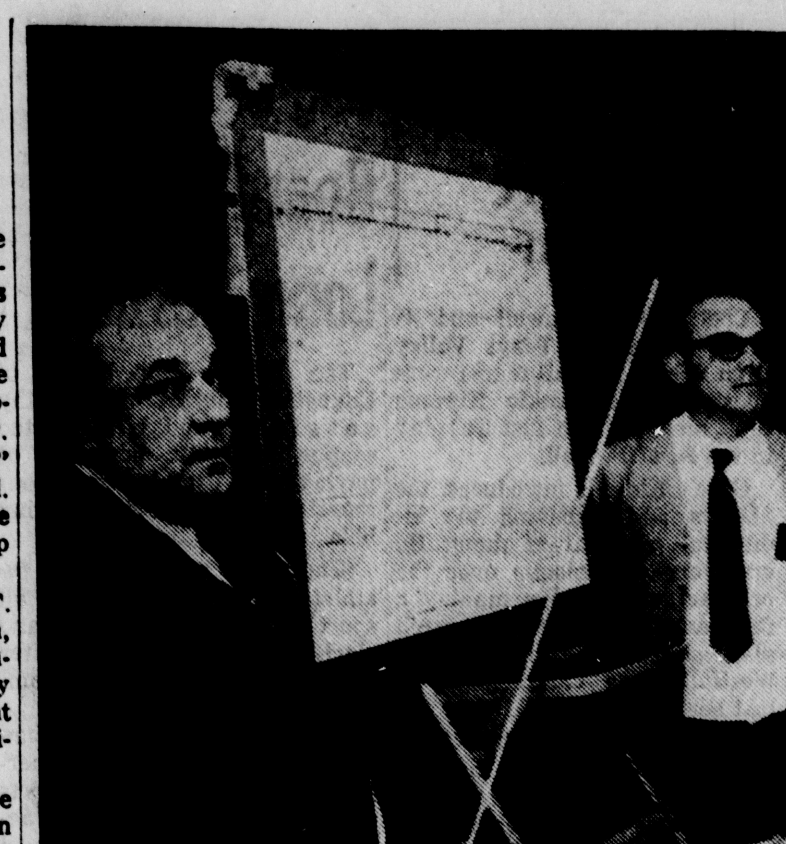

Conte was charged in connection with inmate rioting at the penitentiary last June and August.

Cuban Ducks Help Control Parasites

HAVANA (AP) — The government has enlisted the ordinary duck in a battle against a parasite that annually destroys from 8-10 per cent of Cuba's tobacco plantings.

Tobacco experts say they hope the ducks will gobble up the parasites before they do their usual amount of damage. Ducks are now being delivered to tobacco growing areas in Las Villas and Pinar del Rio provinces.

The government also has established a national commission to study herbicides for use against the parasite.

ROTARY SPEAKER — Bob Kenworthy, president of the Circleville-Pickaway Corporation, was the guest speaker at Rotary's noon luncheon at the L-K Restaurant Thursday. The organization is a group of persons interested in forming and building a rest-nursing-convalescent home in Circleville. The proposed unit will eventually accommodate 240 beds. Youth Mangled As Own Bomb Explodes Early

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A freshman lost three fingers when a homemade time bomb exploded as he attempted to put it in a locker room at strife-torn San Francisco State College, police said. Two unexploded, more powerful bombs were found nearby.

Moments after the blast in the creative arts building Wednesday night, Tim Peebles, 19, East Palo Alto, was found lying on the floor. The blast ripped lockers from the wall and tore a hole in the ceiling.

Peebles was held for investigation. Doctors at Mission Emergency Hospital said three mangled fingers were amputated and that he was burned seriously and may be blinded.

Police Lt. Arva Kannisto said Peebles, a Negro, had been seen with two other Negroes outside the building before the blast. Neither of the others was named.

Huge Vatican Financial Empire Probed

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — When an American sociologist and economic specialist moved to Rome 12 years ago and settled down with his family in the Piazza Bologna neighborhood, he was surprised to learn that his real landlord was the Vatican.

Gradually, he says, he also found that it owned the water company, gas company and the telephone company supplying his house with utilities.

"It intrigued me," says Nino Lo Bello, a one-time University of Kansas faculty member and a veteran European correspondent for U.S. financial publications.

As a result, he has spent much of the last decade digging into the monetary side of the Roman Catholic Church's operating center, and in a new book issued by Trident Press, "The Vatican Empire," he concludes: "The Church is big business." Not only is it "a religious, charitable and educational institution," he says, but also "a nerve center for finance." The "oldest and largest corporation in the world," and the hub of "a tremendous financial empire."

The full extent of those holdings has long remained a question mark, both among Church members as well as others, since the Vatican has never given any public accounting of its financial affairs.

It is "the only sovereign state that never publishes a budget," Lo Bello says. Most Catholic dioceses follow a similar policy, he notes, although demands that financial records be made public have arisen in some places. In most other denominations, such information is regularly reported.

Just what is the Vatican worth? "Nobody really knows," he said in an interview. "Its holdings are so vast, complex and intertwined with combinations and front corporations that nobody can dig through the maze. It's purposely kept that way."

However, his findings offer a hefty slice of the picture, including an estimate that the Vatican owns $5.6 billion in corporate stock on exchanges around the world, counting securities held through interlocking ownerships.

It is "one of the world's largest shareholders," he says. He also cites other figures putting its Italian stock holdings at $586.6 million.

In addition, he also details Vatican ownership of various operating firms, most of them in Italy, including that country's largest construction company, which in turn controls or has interest in 50 other companies.

Cash assets, he says, include at least two numbered Swiss bank accounts and $21.8 million in gold ingots with the U.S. Federal Reserve Board.

Lo Bello, himself a Catholic and a native New Yorker, confines his study to commercial holdings of the Vatican itself, and does not include its priceless art treasures, nor properties held separately by the Church's far-flung dioceses, some of them rich, and others grindingly poor.

Oranges Float In From Sea

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP) — Thousands of oranges washed in from the sea unexplainably Thursday.

"They're firm and taste so good," said one of those who gathered the fruit by the bucketful.

Officials speculated they may have come from trees swept to sea during California's recent flooding.

man," Lo Bello remarked. To gather his data, and trace Vatican holdings through various names and groups, and into political affairs, Lo Bello says he had to rely chiefly on secular sources.

Gray Says Assembly Works Hard

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Sen. Theodore M. Gray of Piqua complained on the Senate floor Thursday about news reports the legislature is not doing anything.

He said the legislature is working hard although it admittedly hasn't been dealing with issues that make big news.

House Speaker Charles F. Kurfess, at an earlier panel discussion, said about the same thing.

Only one bill has passed both houses since the session began more than two months ago. It corrected errors in the code made during the last session.

but afterward one woman complained "he tried to put words in my mouth."

Weeks said it worked out better than a similar hearing during the last session when some women called him names he doesn't care to recall.

"You have to create a friendly atmosphere," Weeks explained. "and allow people to get things they feel strongly about off their chests."

"The question whether to drill or not drill does not hinge on whether pollution can be prevented," she said. "It hinges on whether we wish to tolerate some pollution."

Committee members were impressed. One went outside the hearing room to express his thanks in person.

Nobody thanked the oil and gas industry.

Gov. James A. Rhodes, who once appeared to be in choppy waters with his proposal for technical-vocational education, sees smooth sailing ahead.

"Everybody is for vocational education now," he said confidently last week.

College professors who once balked came into line. Those who spoke out at a Board of Regents meeting during the week sounded like they had been for it all along.

It recalled a remark a legislator made during the heat of the attack upon the proposal by the state's educators.

"Everybody is against Rhodes but the people."

Ex-Convict Found Slain In Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — William Evans, 29, an ex-convict and brother of a black nationalist leader charged with seven counts of first-degree murder, was found shot to death Thursday on an East Side street.

Evans' body, with two bullet wounds, was found in front of the office of Stanley E. Tolliver, a lawyer defending Evans' brother, Fred Ahmed Evans, 37, who is accused of killing three policemen and a civilian during a sniper attack last July 23 in the Glenville area.

A man pulled a gun on a clerk at the Cuyahoga County Morgue where Evans' body had been taken later and made the clerk show him and two women the body.

The man drew the gun after the clerk explained that only relatives of deceased persons are allowed to view bodies.

Evans was identified by a Cleveland Transit System bus driver as the man who jumped on his bus at East 65th Street and Central Avenue and tried to rob him with a shotgun.

The man left the bus at East 83rd Street after the driver convinced him that bus drivers do not carry money to make change and fare boxes are locked.

Evans was found in the street at East 88th Street near Quincy Avenue with an empty shotgun nearby. Shotgun shells were found in his pocket.

Police said they believe Evans was probably shot to death as an intended victim in a holdup attempt.

Evans was being sought by police on two warrants for armed robbery and another for non-support of a child. He was paroled in 1959 from the Ohio State Reformatory after serving about two years of a 1-to-20-year sentence on an auto theft conviction.

Sen. John H. Weeks of Lakewood had more than 50 women on his hands during a subcommittee hearing Tuesday—but his fellow legislators didn't envy him.

The women were opponents and proponents of a bill to license day care centers. One side wasn't exactly happy with the other.

Weeks, a distinguished-looking business consultant, used his dry sense of humor to keep them chuckling.

It worked during the hearing.

The powerful oil and gas lobby tangled with the Ohio League of Women Voters in the House State Government Committee Tuesday night — and came out second best.

Oil and gas interests want to drill in Lake Erie, but a bill is pending that would prohibit it. They contended they now have the machinery and technology that would prevent pollution.

Mrs. Charles Stebbins of Rocky River came armed with pamphlets which explained in detail, the other side of the story.

S. Bloomfield Council Lets Bids, Sets Limited Curfew

South Bloomfield village council approved enforcement of a limited curfew and accepted bids for street repairs during its recent session.

A motion to set 10 p.m. as the curfew for playing basketball at the village courts was made by Dale Pettibone. Pettibone stated that there had been several recent complaints about use of the courts until early in the morning.

The council authorized the village marshal to strictly enforce the ruling.

Bids for street materials were accepted from the Van Camp company of Circleville and from Sturm and Dillard Company.

A request by Mayor Lester George to outfit the cruiser with a riot gun as required by state law was tabled for later discussion.

The village utility commission was instructed to investigate possible installation of street lights at the north ends of Nelson Drive, Lee and Cook roads.

Mayor George reported to the council that the Pickaway County Planning Commission is looking into the possibility of providing water and sewage facilities to the village.

Final business before the council was authorization of the payment of $1,770.26 in bills.

Saxbe Urges Tax Reform, Minimums

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, said Thursday the "little guy is getting fed up" with millionaires who escape paying taxes for various reasons.

The best solution to the problem, the Ohio Republican said, "is to have everyone pay a minimum tax."

Saxbe met with newsmen before addressing an Ohio Chamber of Commerce meeting. The 52-year-old junior senator covered mostly the same ground in both sessions.

He said tax reform is needed, "but I don't know if it will happen this year." He said personal income tax exemptions should be raised from $600 to $1,000 and that the tax exempt foundations need "a pretty good going over."

Asked why he voted in favor of Congressional pay hikes that boosted his own salary from $39,000 to $42,400, Saxbe replied: "Because I wanted the money."

Saxbe added that he felt the "pay is commensurate with the job."

Saxbe said he opposes extension of the income surtax, but would favor returning the money raised by the tax to the states.

He termed the Vietnam war the country's No. 1 problem, and said he has no evidence the war will end soon.

Asked if he is becoming too liberal to please Republican supporters, the former state attorney general replied:

"My political philosophy is that we must move with the times, keep up with the pressures of modern day living. We must be responsive."

Wild Mouse Chase Held On Ship

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP)—British painter Terence Cuneo unintentionally led security police here on a wild goose chase.

Cuneo puts a tiny mouse into each of his paintings and the captain and officers of a passenger liner, learning this, tried in vain to find the rodent in the print of a Cuneo painting hanging in an officer's cabin.

Eventually they cabled the publisher asking where the mouse was and received the answer: "Up the telegraph post first right."

Police found the message suspicious and boarded the ship for an explanation. They stayed to help find the mouse.

Singer Likes Air

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Skiing in winter and camping in summer keeps her in "fantastic physical shape for singing," opera soprano Laurel Hurley said here.

"I had a concert in Vermont," she said, "and I jokingly said, 'I'll cut my fee in half if you can provide some snow.' It snowed, so we went up on the weekend and I skied Saturday and Sunday, sang on Monday and it was 10 below zero."

Serampore was the first college in India to confer degrees and now is the only college that confers degrees in theology.

Teays Valley Reaches End Of Tournament, 87-62

Teays Valley, the Cinderella team of the 1969 Central District Class AA tournament at Columbus, finally reached the end of the trail against powerful Newark, losing, 87-62, Thursday.

The Vikings bowed out of the tournament after winning three games and a sectional trophy. Dale Lambert, the Vikings' tiny scoring machine, established a new four game tournament record.

Lambert added 27 to his 90 points last night for a four game total of 117. His record breaks the four game mark set by Richie Hoyt of Mt. Vernon in 1956.

Held to 17 points during the first three quarters by the tall Wildcats' zone defense, Lambert notched 10 in the final eight minutes of play.

LAST night he hit 10 of 24 shots from the field and seven of nine at the charity stripe. Most of his shots were from a distance of 25 feet or more.

Lambert has scored a total of 585 points in 22 games this season, an average of 26.6 per game. His lowest total was 11 in the third game of the season. He has scored 30 or more ten times this year, and his highest effort was 38.

Teays Valley had no one taller than 6-foot-2-inch Mark Brinker on the floor. Newark's shortest starter was 5-foot-11-inch John Snow.

The other starters for the Wildcats were John Daniels, 6 feet 3 inches; A. T. Payne, 6 feet 3 inches; Dennis Odle, 6 feet 4 inches; Brice Kibler, 6 feet 3 inches tall.

The Vikings had little chance to score inside against that tall timber, and were beaten badly on the boards. The Wildcats hauled in 44 missed shots in the game. They consistently were able to keep the ball in the air on the offensive boards and many of their field goals came on the third and fourth effort.

Teays Valley had 22 rebounds in the game. ***

ODLE was the Newark's leading scorer with 23 points. Daniels had 18 in the game and during the third quarter made all five of the shots he took from the field. They were the only two wildcats to score in double figures.

Newark led 18-12 at the end of the first quarter and 37-29 at halftime. They ballooned that eight point halftime lead to a 27 point third quarter margin, 66-39.

Newark Coach Dick Schenk began substituting late in the third quarter and none of his starters came off the bench during the fourth period.

Of the 12 Wildcats that got into the game, ten of them scored.

Viking Coach Bob Hoover started Lambert, Mark Brinker, Larry Dixon, Don Bell and Neil Fosnaugh. Ed McCord, who has been starting for the Vikings all year, was sick and didn't even get to the Coliseum to watch the game.

Fosnaugh, his replacement, notched 15 points for Teays Valley, nine of them at the charity stripe. Brinker, the only senior on the team, closed his high school career with an eight point effort. Wayne Brown scored four points, all at the foul line in the fourth quarter. Dixon, Bell, Ed Combs and Bob Tucker two each. ***

John Rinka Heads Little All-America Basketball Team

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — John Rinka of Kenyon, Ohio, at 5-foot-9 one of the smallest players in the sport, headed the 1969 Little All-American college basketball team selected today by The Associated Press.

Picked for the first team, along with the diminutive Rinka, were Larry Jeffries, of Trinity, Tex.; George Tinsley of Kentucky Wesleyan, Ken Hall of Westminster, Utah, and Sammy Little of Delta, Miss., State.

The five were chosen from the votes of 102 sports writers and broadcasters throughout the country. Rinka and Jeffries moved up from the second team a year ago while Tinsley jumped to the top from the 1968 honorable mention list.

Curtis Perry of Southwest

Missouri, Greg Albano, of Ithaca, N.Y., college. Buddy Cornelius of Jacksonville, Ala., State; John Napier of Tampa and Willie Scott of Alabama State were named as this year's second team.

Dale Cushinbury of Emporia, Kan., State; Earl Dow of Lamar Tech, Robert Thompson of Philander Smith; Greg Hyder of Eastern New Mexico and Glen Summors of Gannon, Pa., were chosen as the third team.

Mike Davis of Virginia Union, Harold Booker of Cheyney, Pa., State; Marvin Lewis of Southampton, N.Y.; Johnny Allen of Bethune-Cookman; Ted McClain, of Tennessee State; Bob Vandridge of Norfolk State; Marvin Schmitt of Western New Mexico and John McElroy of Youngstown were among the honorable mentions.

Rinka, the only junior on the first team, has been a colorful performer in the Ohio Conference, and battled Hall, a 6-2 senior, most of the season for the small college individual scoring lead. Rinka is rated a fine ball handler and also an outstanding dribbler. Hall, who is a good rebounder and playmaker in addition to his sharp shooting, has averaged around 35 points per game. Rinka's average was 34 points.

Tinsley, a 6-4 senior, helped Kentucky Wesleyan get to the NCAA College Division national championship tourney in which he hopes to lead this team to a second straight title.

Jeffries, a 6-3 senior, is the highest scorer ever for Trinity of the Southland Conference, with more than 2,400 points in his career. He will play against Texas A&M in the first round of the NCAA University tourney Saturday night since Trinity has declared for the major competition although listed in the small school category this season.

Little, a 6-0 senior, scored 50 points against Northeast Louisiana on Feb. 27, the second consecutive game he hit the half-century mark. He is considered the best outside shooter ever at Delta state.

The Little-All American is designed to give recognition to the many small college players throughout the country. Each of the 15 comprising the first three teams will receive a certificate from The Associated Press.

Maple Leafs, Kings Lose 'Away' Games
Enemy arenas—a foreboding place for the New York Rangers until this week—proved the undoing of the Toronto Maple Leafs and Los Angeles Kings in the National Hockey League Thursday night.

The Rangers, who halted a six-game road losing streak with a last-minute tie against Chicago Wednesday night, moved on to Detroit and thumped the Red Wings 4-1 to take over third place in the NHL's East Division.

But the other visitors—Toronto and Los Angeles—did not fare as well. The Maple Leafs were beaten by Montreal 5-3 and took a 5-1 licking at Philadelphia.

Gamely Runs For Top Prize At Santa Anita

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
Gamely is running for Mare of Santa Anita.

William Haggin Perry's 5-year-old is set to oppose 15 males in Saturday's $145,000 Santa Anita Handicap, and if she gets home first, she will be the first mare ever to win the 1 1/4-mile race.

Gamely, who beat the boys in the Inglewood Handicap at Hollywood Park last year when she was the champion among the older fillies and mares, will carry 122 pounds, including Wayne Harris.

She and her stablemate, Dignitas, 117, are the early third favorites.

The early co-first picks are Louis Rowan's and Wheelock Whitney's Quicken Tree, high-weighted at 126 pounds, and Llangollen Farm's Racing Room, 120.

They will go after a guaranteed first prize of $100,000.

The big race on the East Coast will be the $50,000-added Donn Handicap over 1 1/4 miles at Gulfstream Park.

A field of 11 is expected, headed by Wheatley Stable's Funny Fellow, high-weighted at 122 pounds. Another probable is Walnut Hill Farm's Yumbel, the longest winner of the $100,000-Widener in which Funny Fellow was a driving second. Yumbel will carry 116.

Other national features include the $25,000-added Old Line Handicap at Pimlico, the $25,000-added Golden Pony Handicap at Golden Gate Fields, the $15,000-added Fair Ground Oaks at the New Orleans Fair Grounds, the $15,000-added Southland Handicap at Oaklawn Park and the $7,500 East Providence Handicap at Lincoln Downs.

Bunning Eyes Salary Slash
BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — Jim Bunning took a salary cut for the first time in 20 years and he wants that money back.

The 36-year-old right hander of the Pittsburgh Pirates is confident he'll get it back if he can stay healthy.

Last year was a nightmare for the 6-foot-3 Kentuckian. He suffered through four different injuries, won only four games and lost 14. He makes it clear he'll quit before going through another campaign like that one.

Bunning, however, is not thinking in terms of quitting. He has a bright outlook on the 1969 season, with some definite goals in mind.

"I'm four wins short of 200, and I'd like to accomplish that," he said after a workout at the Pirates' training complex here. "I'd like to stay healthy the whole season. I think I'll be able to accomplish that. Then of course, in the back of my mind is pitching in the World Series (he's never been in one). I'd like to do this before I quit."

Denver Rockets Trip Kentucky Colonels, 123-114
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Larry Jones is 17-for-30 for Denver and the Oakland Oaks are 5-for-5 against Miami in American Basketball Association play.

Jones scored 30 points, setting an ABA record of 30 or more in 17 consecutive games, as the Rockets downed Kentucky 123-114 Thursday night.

Meanwhile, Oakland wiped out a 22-point deficit and edged Miami 117-113 for its fifth victory in as many meetings with the Floridians this season.

New Orleans whipped Houston 126-119 in the only other game scheduled, extending the Mavericks' losing streak to seven.

Washington Senators Lose Exhibition Opener, 8-5

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer
After nine days of hitting lessons, Manager Ted Williams apparently has yet to get his points across to his Washington club. The Senators barely managed to avoid an embarrassing zero on their first test.

"Maybe the pitching is better than I thought," laughed Williams after an 8-5, one-hit loss Thursday to the New York Yankees in his managerial debut. "I'm thankful that we got the one."

Only an error by Yankees third baseman Bob Cox in the last of the ninth inning gave Dick Billings a chance to hit one off Thad Tillotson for Williams, a sharp single to center with two out.

Only 12 walks and two hit batters by New York pitchers kept Washington in the game, which was tied 4-4 after two innings. But rookies Bill Burbach, and John Cumberland and veteran Don Nottbart didn't allow any hits. "I'm flabbergasted. I would have thought we'd make at least three or four," Williams said, taking the almost non-existent offense in good humor for a Hall of Famer who was one of baseball's greatest hitters.

Part of the embarrassment was caused by the absence of holdout slugger Frank Howard and Ken McMullen, who signed late and didn't play.

Williams, therefore struck with his youngsters and spent the entire game pacing the dugout.

Tom Shopay struck the big blow for the Yankees, a wind-blown three-run homer.

In the only other exhibitions opener, Montreal Rose Bob Bailey's three-run ninth inning homer past Kansas City 9-8 in a battle between expansion clubs. In intrasquad games, Joe LaHoud slammed two homers, rookie Tony Muser a three-run shot and Rico Petrovelli and Gerry Moses solos for Boston.

Charley "Boots" Day, a rookie, rocked a single, double and three-run homer in the St. Louis Cardinals' only intrasquad contest.

The Cardinals, however, remained puzzled by the continued absence of hard-hitting Orlando Cepeda, who has signed his contract, but, along with Julian Javier, is overdue from the Caribbean.

NCAA Title Hunt Starts Saturday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Eighteen college basketball powers, loaded for Bruin but leery of each other, begin the annual NCAA title hunt Saturday.

UCLA's mighty Bruins, bidding for an unprecedented third successive national championship, will be watching with keen interest from their West Coast den as first round action gets underway.

Six other conference champions have drawn first round byes, along with the unbeaten, top-ranked Uclans, but seven nationally-ranked major college teams and Trinity, Tex., the No. 5 college division club, will go to the post at five launching sites.

At Raleigh, N.C., fifth-ranked Davidson, the Southern Conference king, takes on No. 10 Villanova in the nationally-televvised (NBC, 2 p.m. EST) opener of a doubleheader that also pits eighth-ranked St. John's N.Y., against Princeton's Ivy League champs.

The St. John's-Princeton clash also will be televised to some Eastern points by NBC. The rest of the country will be able to tune in on the Carbondale, Ill., doubleheader windup pairing Miami, Ohio, the Mid-American Conference representative, and 17th-ranked Notre Dame.

Marquette, No. 14 in the final Associated Press ratings, meets Murray State of the Ohio Valley Conference in the Carbondale opener.

Saturday night, a single game at Kingston, R.I., and twin bills at Fort Worth, Tex., and Las Cruces, N.M., wind up the first round competition.

At Kingston, ninth-ranked Duquesne plays St. Joseph's, Pa., the upset winner of the Middle Atlantic Conference tourney.

Trinity, which chose to mix it up with the big boys following a 19-4 regular season finish, tackles Southwest Conference champ Texas A&M and Dayton collides with Colorado State University at Fort Worth.

At Las Cruces, No. 12 New Mexico State, playing on its home floor, goes against Brigham Young's Western Athletic Conference representatives and Weber State, king of the Big Sky Conference, meets Seattle.

Waiting in the wings, in addition to Pacific 8 champ UCLA, will be the titlists from the Missouri Valley, Big Eight, Big Ten, Atlantic Coast, Southeastern and West Coast Athletic conferences.

Louisville and Drake finished in a tie for the MVC crown and will play off Monday night. The Big Eight race also could wind up in a deadlock, with Colorado and Kansas tied for the lead going into Saturday's final games. The Valley and Big Eight winners will join the Fort Worth survivors in next week's Midwest Regionals at Manhattan, Kan.

The winners at Raleigh, the St. Joseph's-Duquesne survivor and the winner of the ACC tournament, in progress at Charlotte, N.C., will advance to the East Regional at College Park, Md.

Purdue, the Big Ten champ, and Kentucky, the SEC titlist, go into the Midwest Regional at Madison, Wis., along with the winners at Carbondale.

UCLA and the WCAC champ—likely once-beaten Santa Clara—take on the Las Cruces winners in the West Regional on the Bruins' home court in Los Angeles.

The four regional kings will pair off in the national semifinals at Louisville, Ky., Thursday, March 20, with the championship game to be played two nights later.

Tonight, defending champion Kentucky Wesleyan and 31 other small college titans, including nationally top-ranked Ashland, Ohio, begin regional play at eight sites in the NCAA College Division playoffs.

The regional winners move on to the Evansville, Ind., national finals, with the title game scheduled for next Friday night.

Tourney Play A Tradition With Mansfield St. Peter

By TED LUTZ
Mansfield News Journal Sports Writer

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Playing in the district basketball tournament is a tradition at Mansfield St. Peter's. For the eighth time in the last nine years, the Spartans will be in the district when they play Bloomville at Galion High School tonight.

While St. Peter's has had success in advancing to the district, it has had difficulty going any farther. Only twice in seven tries has St. Peter's made it to the regional. As a Class AA school in 1962, the Spartans lost in the regional finals to Lima Senior. As a Class A school last year, they went all the way to win their first state championship.

"We always look forward to the tournament season," said Coach Bob Frye, who began the basketball program at St. Peter's 11 years ago. "The enthusiasm is here all year, but the tension begins to build after we win a few in the tournament."

Since St. Peter's was a Class AA school for six years, most of the teams it now plays are double "A's". Of its 20 regular-season games, 14 were with "AA" teams. Included on the schedule were such schools as Toledo Central Catholic, Lima Central Catholic, Akron St. Vincent.

Girls Like Adventure

NEW DELHI (AP) — Three teenage girls declared here "adventure is NOT for boys alone."

They were among the 12 girls who underwent the three-week "special adventure course" in mountaineering in the Uttar Kashi region, 200 miles northeast of Delhi.

"It is full of adventure — with Nature, and why should it be the exclusive preserve of boys alone?" Miss Monica Puri asked.

"Mountaineering is the best cure for shyness and reserved nature," Miss Manjula Jain told a press conference.

"When once you have been bitten by the Himalayan bug, you fall for it again and again," Miss Nandita Haksar said.

They climbed the 12,000 foot high Gompa peak. "But the sky is the limit," Miss Puri said. They have set their eyes on the 29,028-foot Everest, the world's tallest peak.

Better Luck Next Time
GREYBULL, Wyo. (AP) — Along with the "Days of '49," an annual celebration in Greybull, a beard contest is held.

George Wright, a Burlington truck driver, wanted very much to win that contest so he began his bushy growth in plenty of time.

Shortly before the event, Wright helped out a local cement contractor. He emptied bags of white powdery material into a vat along with some fine sand and then he hosed water onto the mixture and watched it mix beautifully to a fine texture.

But some got on Wright and when he arrived home that evening he had a gorgeous hunk of concrete hanging from his chin.

He's growing a new beard for next year and avoiding his cement-making friend during working hours.

TB Hospitals Studied

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The state has begun a study on whether two of its six tuberculosis hospitals can be converted to admit patients with respiratory ailments. A legislative audit committee recently questioned why the six hospitals continue to operate half empty.

cent, Cleveland St. Joseph, and Delphos St. John.

"We feel we play the toughest schedule in the state for a Class A school," Frye said. "This is why we're seldom ranked among the top teams. It takes a near-perfect record to be ranked high. Playing our type of schedule makes this tough to achieve."

The Spartans, now 17-6, ended regulation play with a 14-6 mark. Only one loss was to a Class A school. That was a 62-54 setback at Zanesville Rosecrans in December. The biggest win by St. Peter's was a 78-69 victory over St. Joseph in Cleveland.

The only starters back from last year's state championship team are Zoltan "Whitey" Varga, a 5-11 guard, and Steve Wake, a 6-1 center. Both are juniors. Varga, a Hungarian refugee, is a magician with the ball and also leads in scoring with a 15-point average. Wake is a 192-pound bull, who has

Ohio University Accepts NIT Bid

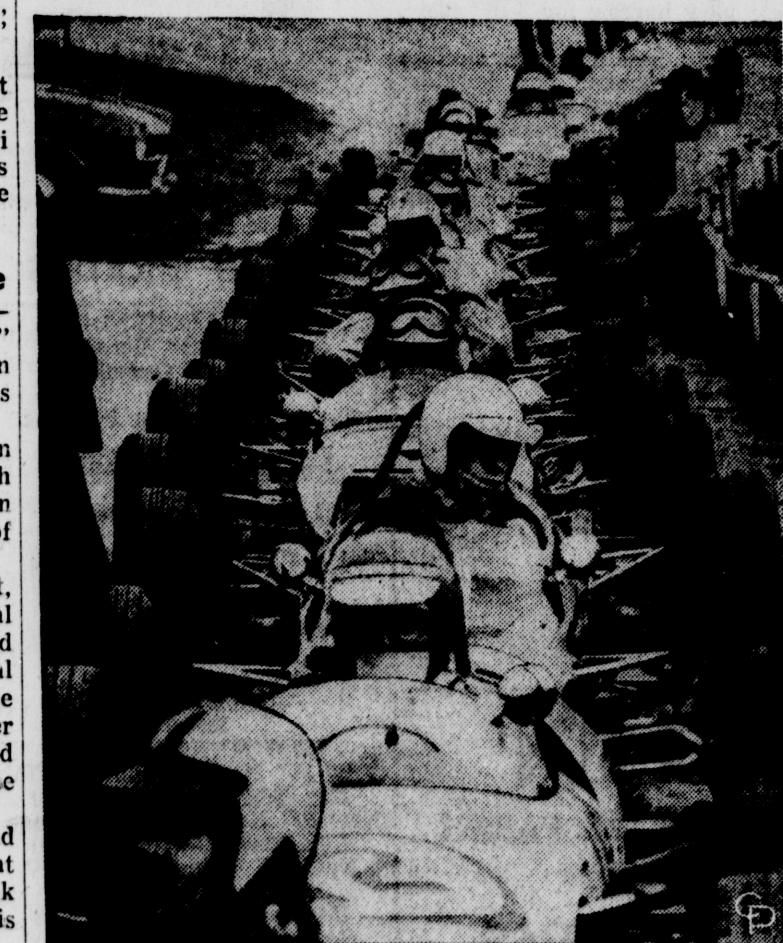

NEW YORK (AP) — Ohio University, which finished in the runnerup position to Miami in the Mid-American Conference, has accepted an invitation to play in the National Invitation Tournament at Madison Square Garden March 13-22.

The Bobcats, 16-8, will be making their second appearance in the NIT. In 1941, Ohio whipped Duquesne 55-40 and City College of New York (CCNY) 45-43 before losing to Long Island University, 56-42.

Pete Rose Signs $82,500 Contract

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Pete Rose's combination of talent, hustle and desire have won him the largest amount of money ever paid to a Cincinnati Reds player—about $82,500.

The centerfielder, who topped the National League in batting last year with a .335 mark, agreed Thursday night by telephone to sign his 1969 contract and end his holdout.

Weiskopf Takes Citrus Open Lead

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Pvt. Tom Weiskopf calls the shots on the golf course, but the Army is something else.

"Every Monday, no matter where I am on the tour, I have to go to those Reserve meetings in Columbus, Ohio," he says. "It's either that or go to Vietnam."

"I don't even want to talk about it."

But the 26-year-old blond belter from Bedford, Ohio didn't mind talking about his golf game Thursday. He took command of a 20-mile-an-hour wind and shelled the tricky Rio Pinar Country Club course with a 68 to go into the second round of the $115,000 Citrus Open tied for the lead with the veteran Rod Funseth.

Weiskopf finished strong with a 32 on the 6,849-yard par 72 layout while Funseth started with a 32 and scrambled for even par on the final nine. Both fired six birdies and just two bogeys.

Weiskopf pronounced his game—particularly his putting—in fine shape after five months active Reserve duty as a clerk-typist at Fort Polk, La.

The former Ohio State star was a natural to fill foursomes of Fort Polk brass because of the super star status he achieved last year as third-leading money winner, with more than $150,000.

Bruce McDonald Heads All-Mid-Ohio

CEDARVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Bruce McDonald, a 5-foot-11 senior from Cedarville, heads the All-Mid-Ohio Conference basketball team picked Thursday by the league's six coaches.

McDonald, who scored 713 points for a 26.2 per game average, led the league in scoring, free throws and assists.

Others on the first team are Danny Lane, 6-4 junior from Bluffton; Frank Minnig, 6-3 senior from Findlay; Steve Schrader, 6-0 junior from Malone, and John Warren, 6-3 sophomore from Cedarville.

The second team: Dan Terhune, Defiance; Fred Wierwille, Defiance; Dave Miller, Malone; Jim Langhals, Bluffton; Don Atherton, Cedarville; Jerry Moore, Findlay; and Sam Kiehl, Wilmington.

Tar Heels, Wake Forest Meet

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
North Carolina and South Carolina are on another collision course in Charlotte N.C., while Drake and Louisville are all set for a showdown in Wichita Kan.

It's getting close to tournament time once again in the college basketball work—NCAA regional play begins Saturday—and there's no tomorrow for the stragglers in those conference races still undecided.

The Carolinas who divided two earlier meetings, won their way into the Atlantic Coast Conference semi-finals with easy victories Thursday. Fourth-ranked North Carolina walloped Clemson 94-70 while 13th-ranked South Carolina trimmed Maryland 92-71.

In tonight's semis the Tar Heels meet Wake Forest which downed North Carolina State 71-73, and the Gamecocks face Duke, a 99-86 winner over Virginia.

The Missouri Valley Conference wound up in a tie when 11th-ranked Drake blasted St. Louis 93-78 and No. 15 Louisville edged Bradley 82-78. They'll play off Monday night in Wichita.

At stake in the ACC and MVC are berths in the NCAA tourney. The only other races still undecided are the Big Eight where Kansas and Colorado are tied with one game to go, and the West Coast Athletic where Santa Clara needs one victory in two weekend games.

The NIT, which gets under way in New York next Thursday, added St. Peter's. Wyoming, Tulsa and Ohio University and will name the remaining six entries in the 16-team field today.

In other big games Thursday night 16th-ranked Boston College in Bob Cousy's home farewell as coach surprised ninth-rated Duquesne 93-72; Rutgers, an NIT entrant, won its 16th straight and completed a best-ever 21-3 regular season with a 77-74 decision over New York U.; Fordham likely clinched an NIT bid by trouncing Manhattan 85-75 and San Jose State returned to a 19-game winning streak in a highly publicized deal, had an 0-for-34 streak, batted around .160 most of the year and finished at .217.

Harrelson, bothered by a trick knee, fell off in fielding at shortstop and slumped to .219. Kranepool, who never really has lived up to expectations, dropped off to .231.

Hodges expects Swoboda to be more consistent and counts on an improvement in Agee, who had attracted his interest when both were in the American League.

An operation on Harrelson's right knee, which still is a bit sore, is supposed to restore his range. Kranepool will have to do much better to retain his first base job despite the $85,000 bonus he got in 1962.

"Seaver and Koosman are the two pitchers who have proven they can do it," said Hodges. "We think we have some fine young arms on the staff and hope that the others will take their places behind the top two."

Seaver, a 16-game winner in each of his first two years, already is being compared with Robin Roberts. Koosman beat every team at least once and made the All-Star team along with Seaver and catcher Jerry Grote.

Jim McAndrew, 4-7 with the Mets after moving up from Jacksonville, and Nolan Ryan, 6-9, the strikeout flash of the first half season, are the best bets to take the starting jobs.

Gary Gentry, 12-8 at Jacksonville in Triple A, is being boosted as another who may follow in the Seaver and Koosman tradition of making it big as a rookie. The 6-foot right-hander from Arizona State could be the surprise of 1969.

Don Cardwell, 7-13, and Bob Hendley, 7-4 at Jacksonville, are other potential starters. Hendley, slow to recuperate from arm surgery in 1968, did a fine job in the Florida Instructional League.

Hodges expects to man his bullpen with Al Jackson, Cal Koonce and Ron Taylor. Danny Frisella also is a possibility.

The bright hope for the infield is Amos Otis, a rookie who had a .286 year on the Jacksonville farm. Although most of his minor league career has been spent in the outfield, the Mets hope to convert him into their third baseman. Ed Charles, the 35-year-old incumbent, has been helping Otis.

Ken Boswell at second and mained in the WCAC race with a 89-55 rout of Los Angeles Loyola.

North Carolina raced to a 9-0 lead over Clemson and shelved the Tigers as Rusty Clark and Bill Bunting split 44 points. Super soph John Roche helped South Carolina shoot down Maryland with 27 points although the losers' Will Hetzel got 33.

In the other ACC contests Dick DeVenzo and Steve Vandenberg had 24 points and Randy Denton 23 in Duke's win over Virginia and Jerry Montgomery's eight points in the final 63 seconds carried Wake Forest past N.C. State.

Drake gave St. Louis the willies—namely Willie Wise, who hit 33 points, and Willie McCarter, who had 16. Louisville, meanwhile, couldn't shake stubborn Bradley until a seven-point run gave the Cardinals a 65-58 lead. Jerry King was high man with 30 points and Butch Beard added 20.

Terry Driscoll made Cousy's home finale a happy one with 28 points and 17 rebounds. Cousy will close out his career after six seasons when the Eagles participate in the NIT.

Mets Out To Break .500

By JACK HAND

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — For the first time in the eight years of their existence, the New York Mets know they can not possibly finish 10th. After climbing to the giddy heights of ninth place last season under Gil Hodges, the absolute worst they can do this year is sixth in the new six-team Eastern Division of the National League.

Hodges, taking full charge of the club after spending the winter recuperating from a heart attack suffered last Sept. 24, expects to improve dramatically on the 73-89 record of 1968.

"It is time for us to get up to .500 anyhow," said Hodges. "We are going to improve quite a bit. Naturally, the St. Louis club is the tough team in our division, everybody's favorite. But we expect to give them all a battle."

"How far we can go depends on the ability of fellows like Ron Swoboda, Tommie Agee, Bud Harrelson and Ed Kranepool to come back from off years. They all have done much better at least once as we know they are capable of doing the job."

The emergence of Jerry Koosman as a 19-game winning rookie left-hander, and the continued excellence of Tom Seaver, the 1967 Rookie of the Year, gave the Mets a big lift last year.

But the slumps of Swoboda, Agee, Harrelson and Kranepool were disastrous and the club batting average dropped to a weak .228.

Swoboda started out like a new Babe Ruth and then hit only four homers in the last 146 games. Agee, acquired from the Chicago White Sox a year ago in a highly publicized deal, had an 0-for-34 streak, batted around .160 most of the year and finished at .217.

Harrelson, bothered by a trick knee, fell off in fielding at shortstop and slumped to .219. Kranepool, who never really has lived up to expectations, dropped off to .231.

Hodges expects Swoboda to be more consistent and counts on an improvement in Agee, who

Questions Taxpayers Ask

EDITOR'S NOTE — This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q — Can I use 1968 income and expense figures to make a declaration of estimated tax for 1969?

A — Yes, this is one method that can be used. Should there be a change in these figures during the year, then an adjustment can be made at the time an installment is paid.

One change that has to be made when last year's figures were used concerns the surcharge. The rate for the surcharge was 7.5 percent for 1968 but since the surcharge is due to end June 30, the rate that should be used for 1969 declarations is five percent.

If you received a pre-dressed package of estimated tax forms in the mail be sure to use them when you file. It will help assure proper crediting of your payments.

Q — When you itemize medical deductions, do you add all of your medical insurance premiums to your other medical expenses?

A — No. One-half of the premiums paid for medical insurance up to a maximum of $150 is deductible without regard to the three percent limitation on medical expenses. The balance is added to your other medical expenses. This means you may be able to deduct as much as $150 even though your other medical expenses were not great enough last year to qualify for a deduction.

Q — Do you have to pay self-employment tax on income from a part-time business if Social Security tax has been taken out of your regular wages?

A — If Social Security taxes have been withheld on $7,800 of wages, then you will not have to pay self-employment tax on your other income. If Social Security taxes were withheld on wages less than $7,800 then you may be liable for self-employment tax.

The maximum income on which Social Security and self-employment tax has to be paid is $7,800. For additional information send a post card to your District office requesting a free copy of IRS Publication 533, Information on Self-Employment Tax.

Q — I have several W-2 forms. Should I send them all in with my return or can I just add them up and give you the totals?

A — All Forms W-2 received should accompany the tax return. Missing W-2 forms were a major reason for delays in processing returns and refunds last year.

Q — My ex-husband gives me $175 a month for myself and two children. Is this taxable to me?

A — If the money is designated in your divorce or separation agreement as child support payments then it will not be taxable. However, alimony or separate maintenance payments are taxable.

Queries Made About Social Security

EDITOR'S NOTE — This column of questions and answers on Social Security matters is provided by the local Social Security Administration and is published as a public service to those paying and receiving Social Security. The column answers the questions most frequently asked.

Q — I have read in the papers that I will have to pay more for Medicare in 1969. Is this true?

A — There has been no increase in the Medicare premium, either for hospital or supplementary medical insurance, in 1969. There has been a 10 per cent increase in the Medicare hospital deductible and co-insurance amounts effective January 1, 1969.

After this date, an individual entering a hospital will be responsible for the first $44 of his hospital bill during the first 60 days, $11 a day for the 61st through the 90th day and $22 a day for each day he uses from his "lifetime reserve" of 60 days.

An increase from $5 to $5.50 for the 21st to 100th day of a stay in a posthospital extended care facility is also in effect. The changes in the deductible and co-insurance amounts apply only to the hospital insurance part of Medicare and do not affect the supplementary medical insurance which covers doctor bills and other medical services.

Q — I heard on the radio that disabled widows can get Social Security benefits. What do I have to do to qualify?

A — If you are between age 50 and 60 and became disabled before your husband's death or during the 7-year period thereafter, you may be eligible for disabled widow's benefits. You should contact your nearest Social Security office so that they can assist you in filing an application. It will reduce processing time if you take the following information and proofs when you file: the date your husband's disability began, medical sources and dates of treatment, certified copies of your birth and marriage records, and your husband's Social Security number as well as your own, if you have one.

Q — My mother is receiving monthly benefits. Recently she had a stroke which has affected her both mentally and physically. The doctor says it may be a long time before she is able to do anything for herself. Is it all right for me to endorse her checks or what should I do? I am the only one to look after her business affairs.

A — No, you should not endorse the checks. You should go to your nearest Social Security office and file an application to receive her checks in your name for her. The people there will explain your responsibilities in acting on her behalf. They will want to know the name of her doctor, who can furnish information regarding her condition. If you are her legal guardian, you should take a certified copy of your appointment papers with you.

Ohio Assembly Ends 9th Week With No Big Action

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio General Assembly has ended its ninth week with a promise from Senate Majority Leader Theodore M. Gray that the legislature would not take a two-week Easter recess.

Gray took the Senate floor Thursday "to head off a particular rumor."

During Holy Week Gray said, the legislature would meet on Monday afternoon, instead of Monday night, and that there would not be a session Thursday.

The week after Easter, the legislature would work Tuesday through Thursday, he added.

The legislature took a two-week Easter vacation last session.

The nice weather this week plus complaints from legislators that the pace of the session is so slow they don't "have anything to do" brought talk of a recess.

In the House, the Reference Committee sent a Senate-passed resolution to lower the voting age from 21 to 19 to the State Government Committee.

There is a good chance Ohioans will decide on the November ballot whether they want to give the vote to 19 and 20-year-olds.

State Government Committee Chairman Loyd G. Kerns, R-16 Raymond, said Thursday "I would think it would come out of my committee."

House Speaker Charles F. Kurfess earlier predicted that the constitutional amendment would get the lower chamber's approval.

When asked if he favored lowering the voting age, Kerns said:

"Yes, pretty much so. But I would also love to see placing another constitutional amendment asking the people of Ohio to change the legal age of adulthood to 19."

Kerns said he planned to sponsor such a constitutional amendment.

"I believe that if 19-year-olds vote, they should also face their creditors," he explained.

At present those under 21 are not liable for debts.

This past year the congregation moved into the newly completed sanctuary.

The trio is comprised of Nancy Steele, Carolyn Steele and Joyce Blackstone.

On Sunday evening at 6:30, the ECV will hear Jim Pollard, a student at the college, speak.

The evening worship hour will be concerning missionary work and will have as speaker Basil Plantz who is serving as an occupational missionary at the Texas-Mexican border.

In other Senate action Thursday, a resolution was introduced to establish a Commission on Obscenity and Pornography to study and determine means of controlling the problem in Ohio. It would report back to the legislature by February, 1970.

The Senate passed two bills by 30-0 votes. One makes it possible for a tuberculosis hospital to hire an administrator who is not a physician. At present, the heads of TB hospitals must be doctors.

The second would prohibit a guardian from opening his ward's safety deposit box until the contents have been audited and a report filed with a probate court.

Clark stated that he will be leaving the local department for employment with a Columbus hearing aid company.

The deputy told sheriff Radcliff that he intended to continue living in Pickaway County despite his new employment.

Fire Destroys Barn, Equipment

Fire destroyed a building and $500-$800 worth of poultry raising equipment at the residence of Shirley Anderson, Route 1, Mt. Sterling Friday morning.

Mrs. Anderson told Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Robert Hoover that she first spotted flames coming from the barn about 8 a.m. as she was fixing breakfast.

Probable cause of the fire was a short in the electrical wiring, according to the sheriff's report. The Mt. Sterling Fire Department responded to the call for assistance.
